The Louisiana Department of Public Works will finance a "feasibility survey" of the Ouachita River here for the Greater Ouachita Port Commission, it was announced yesterday.

Anti-Missile Missile Now Being Studied

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (UP)—The Air Force announced today it is at work on a new weapon of the future — an antimissile missile called the Wizard.

Confirming unofficial reports that the Wizard is on the drawing boards, Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, described it as a defense against enemy missiles fired from other continents.

As for its feasibility, White said: "It will be a terrifically difficult problem, but I think we will lick it."

The New York Times reported recently the Army is urging the government to launch a crash program to produce an antimissile missile by 1961 at a cost of between six and seven billion dollars.

Gen. White, discussing the subject at a National Press Club luncheon, said there are a number of development projects in the antimissile field, some of which have great promise. "The entire field is under a single management concept in the Defense Department," he added.

He also disclosed the Air Force has made several shifts in command as part of a drive to put big U.S. missiles on an operational basis.

More Than 200 Dead On U.S. Roads

By UNITED PRESS

Thanksgiving Day left a grim bonus of more than 200 traffic deaths at the midpoint of the long holiday weekend Friday.

A zero cold wave, accompanied by 30-mile-per-hour gusts and snow, threatened to send the highway death count climbing still higher in the northern Midwest.

A United Press count from the star of the holiday period at 5 p.m. Wednesday until 9 p.m. CST Friday showed a total of 232 deaths in traffic smashups.

There were also 3 persons killed in plane crashes and 38 in miscellaneous accidents for a sorry holiday death total of 273.

California, with the most cars on the roads, had the highest fatality count with 20 deaths reported. There were 18 in Ohio, 13 in Michigan, 12 in Texas and 11 in New York.

Only 10 of the nation's states got through the first part of the holiday with no deaths on streets or highways. At the 4 p.m. EST count, deathless states were Alabama, Delaware, Idaho, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, South Carolina, West Virginia and Wyoming, plus the District of Columbia.

The count was already far ahead of the normal death rate of 180 fatalities over a period between Wednesday evening and Friday midnight in late November.

The National Safety Council, while declining to make an estimate of holiday period traffic deaths, had set the normal fatality count from 6 p. m. Wednesday until Sunday night at 500.

Eruptions On Etna Continue

CATANIA, Sicily, Nov. 29 (UP)—Nightly Etna erupted tonight at the rate of 20 explosions a minute and sent a tongue of lava cutting through new snows on its northeast slope.

The 10,758-foot volcano seemed its most active since sporadic eruptions in late August.

It hurled red-hot stone 1,500 feet into the air. The lava flow was still many miles from inhabited areas.

SANTA COMES TO TOWN—Santa Claus makes his first appearance of the holiday season here in the annual Christmas parade and first annual Marching Band Festival. Neville Musicians First In Parade

Neville's flashy Tiger band swept first place in the first annual Marching Band Festival and Christmas parade here yesterday afternoon before thousands on Sunlit DeSiard Street.

The Neville band, directed by Herbert Gathright, won out over 12 other bands. The full - sound, 34 - element parade brought the largest crowd to Monroe since 1949.

Co - sponsored by the Retail Merchants Division and the Chamber of Commerce, the hour - long parade started at 10 a.m. and ended at 11 a.m. on DeSiard Street.

Chief of Police James C. Kelly, Jr. estimated the crowd at 15,000. The parade's route, from the Ouachita Grammar School grounds to Sixth Street, was lined with on - lookers blessed with blue - bird weather.

Neville was presented with a check for $150 and received two trophies — a permanent trophy and the Fink Rotating Trophy, which will be awarded to the winner each year.

Won Second The Winnsboro band won $100 for second place. Gathright came to Neville from Winnsboro this year.

Flow Of Letters To Goodfellows Continues Here

Letters continue to pour into the offices of the Morning World and News - Star, asking help from the Goodfellows in order that the Yule season may be brighter for many families.

One letter telling of need says, "Dear Goodfellows: I need help. I am a widow, have three small children and am expecting another. This letter is the first one I have ever written to Goodfellows through the years."

"It will be so deeply appreciated if we can get some food for the children. I have a little girl, six years old, in the hospital. My little boy is two, and the baby is a year old."

"Won't you Goodfellows see that we have something to make Christmas a real day? Many, many thanks."

Another letter says, "Dear Goodfellows: I am asking you all for something for Christmas. If you fail me, I won't have anything for the holidays."

"I am 68 years old and get a small check from the welfare, but $35 of it has to go for rent, so when utilities are paid there is little left for groceries."

"Won't you please see that I have written to Goodfellows through the years."

Dallas Bank Cuts Rediscount Rate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (UP)—The Federal Reserve Bank at Dallas will lower its discount rate from 3 1/2 to 3 per cent next Monday, the Federal Reserve Board said today.

Dallas thus becomes the 12th and last of the regional Federal Reserve banks to drop the discount rate. The other 11 banks took the same action in a series of steps starting Nov. 15.

Heavy Fighting Breaks Out Between Spanish And Moroccan Forces

Reds Bare Some Details On Sputniks

MOSCOW, Nov. 29 (UP)—Soviet scientists replied in part today, to questions American scientists asked about the two orbiting satellites.

They said neither was equipped to measure or map the earth. Both were designed to concentrate on the study of cosmic and solar radiation.

A questionnaire on undisclosed aspects of the two Sputniks was submitted by United Press on behalf of a group of astronomers in Cambridge, Mass. The answers came from the International Geophysical Year Committee of the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences.

Skipped Some Questions The committee, which is in charge of all Russian IGY projects, including satellite launchings, did not reply to all questions.

One unanswered question was "how many stages were used in the rocket and what was the reflectivity of the final stage?"

"Are measurements of the earth being made?" The Cambridge astronomers asked. The reply was a simple "no."

The Soviet scientists also reported they did not use a new type power source such as solar or nuclear energy to operate the satellite transmitters and other instruments. Asked what type of batteries were used and what was their weight? The Russians replied:

"Silver zinc batteries with mercury - oxide elements of various weights and dimensions depending on the apparatus to which they supply power."

Other Questions Posed "What information is being telegraphed down from the satellite? Specifically, you are getting cosmic ray information? The first Sputnik only transmitted information on its internal perimeter — temperature and pressure inside the container. The second Sputnik, in addition to this, recorded temperatures on the surface of the container, transmitted data on the intensity of shortwave radiation in various sectors of the solar spectrum and intensity of cosmic rays. This information was obtained by use of halogen meters."

Are you measuring infra-red radiation? No.

Are you recording meteor impacts? No reply.

What is the comparative size of the nose-cone to the final stage and what is the reflectivity of the nose-cone? No reply.

Reporting on the progress of the satellites, Radio Moscow said Sputnik II would have completed 376 orbits of the earth by 10 p.m. tonight. Sputnik I would have completed 851 orbits and its rocket carrier 862, the broadcast said.

Two Crewmen Are Asphyxiated

MORGAN CITY, La., Nov. 29 (UP)—Two tugboat crewmen died of asphyxiation today aboard their boat tied up here.

The crewmen were identified as John Vidos Sr., 45, of Berwick, and Ray Acosta, 30, of Morgan City. They were aboard the tug Green Wave, leased to Sun Oil Co.

Officials believed the deaths were caused when exhaust fumes from a drilling barge next to the tug leaked into the tug's pilot house where the men were sleeping.

Chilly Winds Sweep Into Northeast Area

A 35-mile-per-hour wind, with gusts up to 45, blew into the Twin Cities last night, bringing with it some real wintertime weather.

Much colder weather is expected today and tomorrow with cloudy skies today, clearing tomorrow.

Yesterday's maximum was 69 degrees, and the minimum was 38, compared with Thursday's readings of 67 and 51.

Colder weather is also expected in Arkansas, with fair skies predicted.

Zero Cold Wave Sweeps Into U.S.

By UNITED PRESS

Gale force winds Friday swept a zero cold wave into the Great Plains, smashed Georgia farmlands with tornado force, and fanned a forest fire in California.

The cold wave warnings were posted from the Dakotas to Kansas and eastward through parts of Illinois and Wisconsin.

The cold came out of Canada with a rush on the heels of 40 to 50 mile per hour winds. At Lubbock, Tex., the gusts hit 70-mph peaks, churning up dust clouds in the cold air.

Temperatures were expected to fall to 8 to 15 degrees below zero by Saturday morning in northeast Minnesota and to zero elsewhere in the state. The same was in store for the Dakotas, while 15 to 25-degree drops were predicted as far south as the Texas Panhandle and New Mexico.

Snow in Oklahoma A narrow band of snow and rain changing to snow arrived with the cold, stretching from upper Michigan and Wisconsin to Missouri.

Destruction Of A-Plant Averted

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—A disgruntled Long Island factory worker was accused today of damaging uranium-filled cylinders in a manner that would have caused a "massive explosion" had they been used.

Santo Scalise, 45, of New Hyde Park, N.Y., an employee of the Sylvania-Corning Nuclear Corp., at Hicksville, N.Y., was arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Martin Epstein for allegedly damaging the cylinders to spite his employer.

The cylinders at the factory are made for government atomic energy plants.

Scalise is officially charged with damaging government property, an offense punishable with as much as 10 years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

He was released in $500 bail for further arraignment Dec. 10.

Kenneth Sternberg, chief of the criminal division, U.S. attorney's office, said Scalise admitted walloping a file across the aluminum cylinders which are about as thick as a policeman's nightstick but only half the length.

He said had the cylinders been used it would have caused a "massive, uncontrolled chain reaction at Aiken, S.C., where they were to be shipped for use in an atomic reactor. The explosion, he said, would have wrecked the plant and possibly killed everybody in it."

Sternberg said the accused man was incensed over the type of work given him since he lost the tip of the little finger on his left hand.

Swarms Of Hunters Ready For Opening

Hunting in Louisiana will be full-blown tomorrow with the opening of the deer and quail seasons, but water in the woods and fields is expected to handicap the outdoorsman.

Recent rains that sent the ducks scattering in the pen oak flats are also expected to hinder the kill on the opening of deer and quail seasons.

However, cold and clear weather has been forecast for Northeast Louisiana and an army of hunters will head to the woods to bag a buck or bring back the limit of quail.

The deer season, in this area, will remain open through January 1st, whereas quail hunting will be legal until February 10th.

Each hunter will be allowed two bucks for the season, but no more than one on a particular day. The limit of quail will be 10 per day.

Hunters began moving equipment into their camps in the Delta yesterday, where, in Ten-

RABAT, Morocco, Nov. 29 (UP)—Al Alam, official newspaper of the ruling Istiqlal Party, said today Spanish forces had launched an all-out offensive against Moroccan territory outside the Spanish enclave.

Al Alam also accused Spanish troops of a reign of terror against Moroccan civilians inside the Spanish settlement on Morocco's west coast.

The newspaper's special correspondent in Ifni said residents of several Arab villages had fled to the hills after Spanish soldiers raped the women and executed the men without trial. Air raids, it said, had killed 230 persons.

500 Bombs Dropped The newspaper said Spanish aircraft also dropped 500 bombs on Moroccan territory and that a Spanish warship had bombarded Moroccan soil.

Crown Prince Moulay Hassan of Morocco yesterday said he had ordered the royal army to fire back at foreign aircraft flying over Morocco. He also said he had asked Spain's Generalissimo Francisco Franco to help stop the fighting.

Al Alam, which yesterday reported the arrival of 1,800 Spanish reinforcements in Ifni, said today that 23 train cars filled with troops and supplies were being prepared in Spain for fast shipment to the battle zone.

The newspaper reported that Moroccan Army of Liberation troops were holding their own in Ifni and still controlled the airfield at Sidi Ifni, capital of the enclave.

Moroccan Towns Raided (Spanish sources in Madrid said the military situation in Ifni was under control, but that the rebels still were grouped in the frontier area where they were putting pressure on Spanish outposts.)

They said Spanish reinforcements were driving forward in a big cleanup operation to sweep all the rebels out of the area.)

Local Moroccan authorities at Agadir, a port town 55 miles north of Ifni said Spanish planes bombed two Moroccan villages close to Ifni's frontier yesterday.

Reports reaching Rabat from Abadir said European eye - witnesses saw and confirmed the Spanish bombing raids.

There were no official estimates of Moroccan casualties in the Ifni fighting but informed sources set Moroccan dead at about 100 men.

Flames Destroy School At Bonita

BONITA (Special) — A roaring fire, fanned by high west winds, last night gutted the Bonita Grammar School here, causing losses unofficially estimated at $225,000.

Volunteer fire departments from Mer Rouge and Wilmet, Ark., and the Bastrop fire departments fought in vain to save the wooden frame building which apparently caught fire around 7:45 p.m. and burned to the ground by 10:00.

The stiff winds proved advantageous in keeping the fire from the gymnasium, cafeteria, and high school buildings of the school plant, firemen said.

No cause was given for the blaze, which began in the east corner of the building. Officials of the school said classes would be taken into the high school Monday.

FOR MOON FLIGHT?

Space Flying Suit
 Developed By U.S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—The Air Force came up today with a flying suit it said would enable man to go anywhere in space.

Brig. Gen. Donald D. Flickinger, director of human factors for the Air Research and Development Command at Baltimore, told about it. He said the suit provides "complete protection in space — a man could go there and back in reasonable time."

Flickinger announced a development of the "full pressure" suit at a National Press Club luncheon and then presented the man who designed it and will be the first to use it, test pilot Scott Crossfield. Crossfield, 26, the first man to fly twice the speed of sound, has been assigned to make the first flight in the North American X-15 experimental rocket aircraft which is expected to carry man higher and faster than ever before.

Crossfield demonstrated that he could bend over easily, move about and remain generally comfortable in the suit. It weighs 13 pounds and has a back pack weighing 11 pounds.

Other high-flight suits that have been developed heretofore have been extremely bulky, heavy and uncomfortable.

Flickinger said the full pressure suit has been tested successfully in a pressure chamber and in a wind tunnel. It was developed under an Air Force contract by David Clark Co., Worcester, Mass.

Flickinger said the pressure chamber tests, up to 170 degrees, were at heats up to 170 degrees, under conditions of extreme cold, and at simulated altitudes of up to 175,000 feet. He said the wind tunnel tests included speeds of about 750 miles an hour.

Flickinger called the suit an important breakthrough, made possible largely because of the slip-knit nylon fabric underneath the outer covering.

 From Injuries

WAVERLY (Special) — A 14-year-old boy died instantly when he was struck by an automobile on U. S. 80 here about 8:20 last night.

The youth has been identified as John David Floyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Floyd, of Route One, Delhi.

State Police, who investigated the incident, termed the occurrence as unavoidable and no charges were filed against the driver, Herbert Leon Mason, 42, of Portland, Oregon.

Officials explained that Mason was headed west on U. S. 80, and the youth was struck as he ran across the road in front of the car which was traveling about 60 miles an hour. State Police said the boy was thrown about 200 feet down the road from point of impact.

World Awaits Rocket's Death

By DON GUY

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 29 (UP) — A worldwide alert is expected Saturday to watch for the death plunge of Russia's rocket satellite that scientists say may plunge to earth Sunday, possibly in the morning.

The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory hopes to be able to predict the death plunge 24 hours in advance.

Pinpointing the place is a great deal more difficult. A 40-minute error in the time would mean the difference between the satellite falling in North America or Australia.

The rocket makes three sweeps across the United States Sunday morning. Since it is at its lowest point in the morning, barely over 100 miles high, Dr. Fred L. Whipple, Smithsonian director, said there is a slightly greater probability it might fall during its morning passages.

The lower the rocket sweeps in its orbit around the world the greater the air drag and the sooner it starts its final plunge.

Sunday afternoon and evening the rocket also makes three passages across the United States but at about 150 miles altitude — if it has survived that long.

Kansas, Iowa and Canada were the favorite spots picked by three Smithsonian staffers today in an office pool on the possible landing place of the satellite.

He said Sealise also was angry about his picture being used on a factory poster as the man who spoiled the plant's safety record.

Sternberg said the company, who operations are highly classified, began checking several weeks ago after finding a large number of damaged cylinders. It succeeded twice in taking secret motion pictures of Sealise in the act of hitting the cylinders, he said.

RENNER, Tex., Nov. 29 (UP) — The National Science Foundation has given the Texas Research Foundation a $14,000 grant to support plant exploration in South America. Researchers will try to find a breed of wild potato that may be used to improve North American potatoes.

Bids

Bids will be opened December 3 at 3 p.m. by the City of Monroe school board for the construction of the first Negro Junior High school in the city on the site on Fenwick street. The building is estimated to cost $200,000, and plans are completed by William King Stubbs, local architect.

The structure provides for 20 classrooms and will be another substantial addition to the school system of the city of Monroe.

Playful

The other day when the sun was shining and the air was almost spring-like, three large squirrels had a play time in the highest branches of two great pecan trees in the 200 block of Breard street.

Our attention was called to the scene for a number of persons were taking in the squirrels' antics from the sidewalk below.

The two trees were some distance apart but the lead squirrel would dart out to the end of a lofty limb and catapult across a considerable distance to the nearest branch of the next overhanging tree. Right on his heels came the second squirrel and the third one followed up the active performers.

Observers on the ground delighted to see how carefree and zesty the trio of squirrels seemed to be.

Retired

Henry Haas, Sr., and Bob Ed Tucker, both employees of the city hall here for many years, were retired recently from positions in which they served the public well. Haas is now putting in nearly a full day at a local flower shop for he is still too active to retire.

Born in Farmville, Haas related the other day how he put in many weary hours when he was employed in the tax collector's office in Union Parish.

"There was no such thing as a typewriter in the office then, and all the records were done the hard way with pen and ink," he declared.

IN PASSING

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — Mrs. Sally Trammell decided on a surprise visit to her sister, who lives in Parsons, she stopped her car at Linden, Tenn. for gas as her sister drove up to the station. The sister was on the way to visit Mrs. Trammell.

Swarms Of Hunters Set For Opening

tomorrow's opening will send many untried animals to the field. The use of dogs and the art of still hunting will be in practice on the deer hunt.

Deer hunting will be legal in Morehouse, West Carroll, East Carroll, Madison, Tensas, Union (east of the Missouri Pacific Railroad from Arkansas line to Little to Sterling), Franklin (east of highway 15), Catahoula (east of Ouachita, Boeuf and Black Rivers and south of highway 84), and LaSalle (south of Old River and Catahoula Lake).

The deer season will open December 6th through January 1st in Winn parish, south of highway 84 and east of highway 167.

A five-day antlerless season will open in Tensas December 28th through January 1st. Each hunter will be allowed one antlerless deer on a permit basis. Good sport afield!

Farm Income Up, But Costs Outclimb Rise

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (UP) — Prices farmers received for crops and livestock rose eight-tenths of 1 per cent in the month ended Nov. 15, the Agriculture Department reported today.

The cost of production and living supplies purchased by farmers, it said, rose almost 1 per cent during the month.

Thus farmers' returns in mid-November averaged 81 per cent of parity. This is unchanged from the parity ratio in mid-October and in mid-November a year ago.

The department's monthly price report said prices received by farmers were 3 per cent above those of a year earlier. Production costs also were 3 per cent higher than in November, 1956, it said.

The report said higher prices received for meat animals, vegetables, poultry and eggs were only partially offset by decreases in prices of cotton, feed grains and tobacco.

The department noted that a "rather general rise in retail prices" raised the index of prices paid for commodities and services, including interest, taxes, and farm wage rates.

The index stood at 298 per cent of the base period — an all-time high of production costs. It compares with 296 per cent in mid-October and 299 per cent in mid-November a year ago.

The mid-November index of prices farmers received stood at 242 per cent of the 1910-14 base period. This compared with 240 per cent in mid-October and 234 per cent in mid-November a year ago.

Average hog prices for the month were $16.70 per hundredweight, compared with $16.90 in mid-October and $14.30 in mid-November a year ago.

Average beef cattle prices for the month were $17.80 per hundredweight, compared with $17.30 in mid-October and $14.50 in mid-November, 1956.

Otis Edgerston attributed death to a broken neck, investigating officers reported.

Witness told officers that the youth was seen running from behind a parked truck, but it was not known if he had been riding in the vehicle.

The accident occurred directly across the highway from Frazier's Gin in Waverly, about four miles east of Delhi.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete late last night, and Gay's Funeral Home of Delhi had taken charge of the body.

Besides his parents, the youth is survived by three brothers, and four sisters.

A. B. Coit, Sr. Services Slated

TALLULAH (Special) — Funeral services for A. B. Coit Sr., 69, of Newellton, who died late yesterday at Port Allen, La. will be held today.

Mr. Coit died at the home of his daughter Mrs. A. O. Parker, following a lengthy illness.

Services will be in the Union Church at Newellton with the Rev. Dr. Unger officiating. Interment will be in the Newton Mississippi Cemetery under the direction of Young's Funeral Home, Tallulah.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. A. B. Coit, Newellton; two sons, E. B. Coit, Jr., Larvas, Brazil, and Harry Coit, Houston, Tex.; two daughters, Mrs. A. O. Parker and Mrs. Paul Favrot, both of Port Allen, La.; two brothers, R. E. Coit, Meridian, Miss., and Lindsey Coit, Newellton; and one sister, Mrs. R. R. Mulvey, Lafayette, Ind.

Vicious winds also plagued Southern California, where "Santa Ana" type gusts reached peaks of 70 to 75 miles per hour and whipped a forest fire through a remote area of Angeles National Forest.

It was the same forest fire which broke out last week and drove to within 20 miles of Los Angeles. Fire fighters said they had the blaze under control Thursday, but the fresh winds gave the flames new life.

Extra firefighters were sent to a ridge in the forest to help in the campaign to block the fire. Officials said there was a good chance it could be contained but they also feared it would break loose and find new "fuel."

Yuletide Season Ceremonies Set

WINFIELD (Special) — The Yuletide season will be ushered in here tomorrow by a gala Christmas program featuring a parade headed by Old St. Nick himself and a musical presentation on the city's Court Square.

Festivities get underway at 3:30 p. m. and will be concluded with the lighting of multi-colored Christmas lights along the downtown streets. Mayor D. C. Allen will serve as emcee.

Santa will distribute several thousand bags of candy and nuts to children attending the event. The program is sponsored jointly by four local civic clubs, the Pilot, Lions, Rotary and Kiwanis.

Ike, Mamie Relaxing At Gettysburg

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Nov. 29 (UP) — President Eisenhower, continuing his "excellent" recovery from a slight stroke, drove here today for a few days of rest among the relaxing pastoral scenes of his farm.

Accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower, he made the leisurely 89-mile trip through the sun-bathed Maryland and Pennsylvania countryside in slightly more than two hours. He arrived at the farm at 12:50 p.m. EST.

The President appeared in excellent spirits. As the big Chrysler limousine left the White House he doffed his hat, waved to the watching throng.

During the trip, he talked with animation to the smiling first lady. Shortly before their arrival, two of the Eisenhower grandchildren, David, 9, and Barbara Anne, 5, enjoyed a slow trot on horseback across the presidential fields.

MISSING SOLDIER ON LEAVE
HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 29 (UP) — The Marine base at Corpus Christi reported today that Cpl. William E. Mittelstedt Jr., who was believed missing actually was on an extended leave. The base notified his parents here, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Mittelstedt Sr., that their son was all right.

Scientists Hope To Find Space Density

LONDON, Nov. 29 (AP)—British scientists hope to use the American earth satellite to find out how empty space really is.

This was announced at a scientific conference here today by J. G. Davies of the staff of the Jodrell Bank Radioastronomy station in northern England.

He explained that the method would be to bounce radar waves off the satellite and off the moon and compare the results.

In each case, there would be a certain amount of polarization caused by electrons—tiny particles of matter—between the radar device and the object. By observing the polarization, it is possible to calculate the number of electrons that caused it.

The astronomers would find out in this way the total number of electrons between the earth and the moon. Then they would subtract the number in the earth's atmosphere—this would be the number interfering with radar reflections from the satellite. The result would tell them how many electrons there are out in space between the earth and the moon. Davies explained the plan to a conference on tracking earth satellites organized by the Royal Society, Britain's leading body of scientists. The Jodrell Bank station has the most powerful radio telescope in the world, and has tracked Sputniks by radar. Davies said later in an interview the plan can best be put into operation when the satellite is directly between the earth and the moon.

"We hope the orbit of the American satellite will make it possible," he said. "With the two Russian satellites, conditions have not been quite right."

Dr. Luigi Jacchia of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington flew over to give the conference an account of the institution's plotting of satellite orbits with computing machines.

Hammarskjold En Route To Middle East

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 29 (UP)—United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold flew to the Middle East tonight on an urgent four-nation trouble-shooting mission to try to end a fresh Arab-Israeli flareup.

It was flying via Rome to Beirut, Lebanon, the first stop on a one-week trip that also will take him to Amman, Jordan; Jerusalem, Israel; and Damascus, Syria. He did not plan to visit Egypt. He will return to New York Dec. 8.

The UN chief's most immediate concern was reported to be the Israeli-Jordanian border situation. Jordan has accused Israel of kidnapping a Jordanian citizen. Israel has accused Jordan of blockading the Israeli enclave on Mount Scopus in Jordan's territory.

An Israeli foreign ministry spokesman in Jerusalem warned that the blockade could develop into a "critical" situation.

Israeli and Syrian relations also were worsening.

Hammarskjold was taking a staff of experts with him to try to settle these issues and maintain the shaky Mideast truce.

year. Glyn Gardner is director of the Winnsboro band.

Winning $75 for placing third was the Ouachita Parish High School band.

An award of $25 was presented to each of the following: West Monroe, fourth; Bastrop, fifth; Farmerville, sixth; Rayville, seventh; Tallulah, eighth; Columbia, ninth; and Oak Grove, tenth.

The bands were judged on marching, playing and appearance. Judges were Billy P. Causey, David Swamy and John Raush, all of Shreveport.

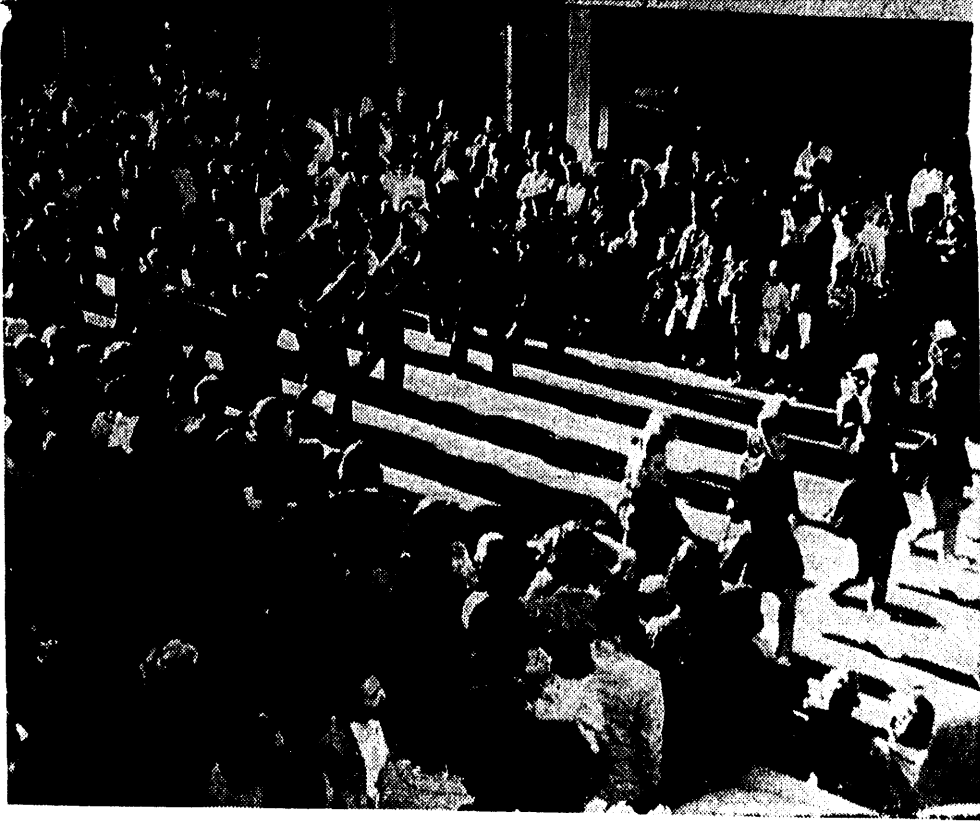

Bands from Crowley, Delhi and the North Monroe Junior High School also participated.

Ushered In Season

The event ushered the Christmas season into Monroe. Santa Claus, riding in a shiny sports car, was the top attraction for a small army of children lining the streets.

Other attractions in the parade were a 65-foot diesel train, the Missouri Pacific "Eagle"—the Confederate Cannoners of Oak Grove, two miniature "Jaguars" and two toy floats, all sponsored by Howard Griffin, the Jaycee Auto, the J. C. Penney Toy Float, the Belk - Gallant float and the Grey Ghost - Rebellette Float.

The parade was coordinated by the Monroe Jaycees. Herbert Pink served as chairman.

King Mohammed Flies To Texas; To Visit Ranch

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 29 (AP)—Affable King Mohammed V of Morocco flew to Texas in a blustery wind today, said he was pleased to be here but had no comment on border skirmishes between his country and Spain.

Some 200 persons, including Gov. Price Daniel, met the King during a sandstorm. He went through a receiving line of 50 at Dallas Airport terminal building.

A 20-car convoy took the King to the Dallas-Fort Worth turnpike and to the General Motors assembly plant at Arlington, Tex. There he shook hands with several children who managed to reach him.

The party arrived in a Military Air Transport Service Constellation from Williamsburg, Va., 25 minutes behind schedule. His itinerary calls for him to fly to the great King ranch, in South Texas, tomorrow for a visit through Sunday. He is to go from there to Los Angeles, San Francisco, Omaha and New York.

King Mohammed, 48, rules a nation with a population about the same as Texas, but about 35 the area of Texas.

He arrived in Washington Monday and was met by President Eisenhower just before the President became ill. His talks with Eisenhower were canceled but he conferred with Secretary of State Dulles.

Ordinance At Little Rock Hit By ACLU Suit

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 29 (UP)—The American Civil Liberties Union today challenged the constitutionality of a local ordinance requiring organizations to register with the city and disclose their members and contributors.

The ordinance, patterned after a model drafted by State Attorney General Bruce Bennett, was the outgrowth of the integration dispute at Central High School in North Little Rock.

It admittedly was intended to be used as a weapon against the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Several Arkansas communities have adopted it. Two of the NAACP's state officers were charged in Little Rock with refusing to obey the ordinance.

The ACLU was included among the organizations required to furnish membership and other information.

In an affidavit submitted to city clerk Pery H. Machin, ACLU executive director Patrick Murphy Malin charged that the ordinance was unconstitutional under the first and fourteenth amendments to the U. S. Constitution and the Arkansas State Constitution.

The ordinance, Malin said, was "designed to harass those residents of North Little Rock who believe that, under our form of government, the United States Supreme Court is the final interpreter of the meaning of the federal Constitution, and that its decisions and all inferior court decrees made pursuant thereto must be obeyed."

Services Slated For 'Gus' Buie

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 29 (AP)—Funeral services will be held here Sunday for T. A. (Gus) Buie, an authority on urban highway planning, who died last night after 35 years with the Louisiana Highway Department. He was 57.

Buie was born in New Orleans. A native of Crist, Tex., Buie graduated from Georgia Tech in 1922 with a degree in civil engineering. He joined the State Highway Department a few months later.

Buie is survived by his wife, one son, a brother, also residing in Baton Rouge, two sisters who live in California, and his mother, of Ft. Worth, Tex.

Negro Voting Up Sharply

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 29 (AP)—The United States informed the United Nations today Negro voting in Southern states had increased greatly in the past 17 years and is expected to increase even more sharply in the future.

This information was sent to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold for inclusion in a study being prepared by the U.N. sub-commission on the prevention of discrimination and the protection of minorities.

The report said the number of Negro voters increased from 150,000 in 1940 to about 1,239,500 in 1956, in an 11-state area comprising Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia.

Scientists Hope To Find Space Density

LONDON, Nov. 29 (AP)—British scientists hope to use the American earth satellite to find out how empty space really is.

This was announced at a scientific conference here today by J. G. Davies of the staff of the Jodrell Bank Radioastronomy station in northern England.

He explained that the method would be to bounce radar waves off the satellite and off the moon and compare the result.

In each case, there would be a certain amount of polarization caused by electrons—tiny particles of matter—between the radar device and the object. By observing the polarization, it is possible to calculate the number of electrons that caused it.

The astronomers would find out in this way the total number of electrons between the earth and the moon. Then they would subtract the number in the earth's atmosphere—this would be the number interfering with radar reflections from the satellite. The result would tell them how many electrons there are out in space between the earth and the moon.

Davies explained the plan to a conference on tracking earth satellites organized by the Royal Society, Britain's leading body of scientists. The Jodrell Bank station has the most powerful radio-telescope in the world, and has tracked Sputniks by radar.

Davies said later in an interview the plan can best be put into operation when the satellite is directly between the earth and the moon.

"We hope the orbit of the American satellite will make it possible," he said. "With the two Russian satellites, conditions have not been quite right."

Dr. Luigi Jacchia of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington flew over to give the conference an account of the institution's plotting of satellite orbits with computing machines.

Hammaraskjold En Route To Middle East

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 29 (UP)—United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold flew to the Middle East tonight on an urgent four-nation trouble-shooting mission to try to end a fresh Arab-Israeli flareup.

It was flying via Rome to Beirut, Lebanon, the first stop on a one-week trip that also will take him to Amman, Jordan; Jerusalem, Israel; and Damascus, Syria. He did not plan to visit Egypt. He will return to New York Dec. 8.

The UN chief's most immediate concern was reported to be the Israeli-Jordanian border situation. Jordan has accused Israel of kidnapping a Jordanian citizen. Israel has accused Jordan of blockading the Israeli enclave on Mount Scopus in Jordan's territory.

An Israeli foreign ministry spokesman in Jerusalem warned that the blockade could develop into a "critical" situation.

Israeli and Syrian relations also were worsening.

Hammarskjold was taking a staff of experts with him to try to settle these issues and maintain the shaky Mideast truce.

Privacy Upheld

Despite the arbitrary and apparently ideological position taken by the United States supreme court on the issue of segregation, there are still many federal district judges who do not believe that all privacy must be invaded for the sake of race-mixing. These judges are still upholding the right of private organizations to select their own membership.

A recent case in point is that in which Federal District Judge Burnita S. Matthews, in a decision rendered in Washington, the domicile of the supreme court, upheld legality of racial segregation in police boys' clubs in the national capital. She ruled that Boys Club of Metropolitan Police, D. C., the corporate name of the organization which operates the clubs, is a private corporation and not an arm or agency of the District of Columbia government.

Judge Matthews said federal court lacks authority "to interfere with the segregation practices of a private corporation."

The ruling was handed down in a suit brought in behalf of Welker C. Mitchell, a Negro minor, who was denied membership in a club operated by white boys. Mitchell, son of Attorney Curtis Mitchell, contended the club corporation was an agency of the district government and that its maintenance of racially segregated clubs is forbidden by the federal constitution.

It would indeed take a long stretch of the imagination to hold that any private club operated by children of police officers was a federal organization. In officers was a federal organization. In reality, not only the children of police officers but the officers themselves should have the right to organize any sort of legitimate private club they choose without having such an organization branded a federal institution. Even members of congress are entitled to a private life of their own which does not bear any official government stamp. There is no reason that congressmen should not be able to organize a private club without being subject to regulations governing federal institutions.

The supreme court apparently has taken the erroneous position that anyone who holds an official position cannot act in any way other than in an official capacity. This conception is so obviously wrong that it is immediately apparent to any right-thinking person.

Despite this, the supreme court, in its ardent campaign in behalf of integration, ruled in one case that a private school was a public institution simply because city officials had been named administrators of a man's private will, although the officials were in no way acting in their official capacities in administering the will. It finally became necessary to name new administrators to avoid violation of the man's last will and testament.

In view of this obviously arbitrary decision, it is by no means certain that the supreme court will uphold Judge Matthews' ruling.

On the basis of some of the decisions made by the supreme court, no private organization seems to be safe from invasion.

Journalists, Doctors

Newspaper people and doctors have a great deal in common. That is the unusual theme of an editorial in the Louisville Courier Journal, entitled "Press And Medicine Both Serve The People."

The Journal says: "The two professions—medicine and journalism—have some notable points of similarity. Both are concerned with important functions of human life. Doctors strive to preserve and restore human health. . . . Journalists deal with the health of human minds in a democracy by trying to keep them adequately informed."

"Both professions are practiced by men and women who are passionate believers in their calling. Here is perhaps the root of some misunderstanding. A doctor believes that all must recognize the nobility of his profession. A journalist is just as convinced that the satisfaction of the people's right to know is a duty of a high moral order. Such pride can lead to arrogance on both sides. The practitioners of both professions sometimes fail to explain their actions fully to each other or to the public, because they forget that any explanation is necessary. . . ."

Happily, misunderstanding born of such causes are much less common than they used to be. More and more doctors—along with medical societies—now recognize the need for good public relations, within the framework of medicine's high code of ethics. More and more newspaper people, on their side, are showing a keen interest in the problems and achievements of the medical fraternity. The legitimate interests of both groups—and, of far greater importance, the public interest—is thus served.

Integration Backer Near Committee Chairmanship

Death of Rep. Augustine B has been in a position to slow progress of such legislation might drive Negro voters to the GOP camp.

This would not prevent Southern members of the committee from resenting Powell's chairmanship, yielding his post as chairman of the committee to Powell or any other one else unless forced to by ill-considered, retirement, defeat at the polls, or an unexpected GOP victory next year wrenching control of the House from the Democrats.

Observers from North Carolina say that the congressman's role as a buffer between the ardent integrationist Powell and the committee chairmanship insures Barden's reelection as many times as he desires to run.

However, should Barden, a veteran of 23 years of Congress, decide unexpectedly not to seek reelection next year, or if, also unexpectedly, he should be defeated, Powell is slated by seniority to step into the chairmanship. This, of course, is provided that Democrats control the House.

In any event, Powell would not assume the chairmanship without a battle. Speaker Sam Rayburn (Dem. - Tex.) and other Democratic leaders are boiling mad at Powell for his open support of President Eisenhower in the 1956 election and at one point threatened to discipline him.

They could be expected to make an effort to skirt the hard and fast rules of seniority which have been applied in the House for half a century, and which would assure Powell of the post Barden pressed South would have ended up paying taxes to build schools in other areas of the country.

Daily Devotions

If we say that we have not sinned, we make Him a liar and His Word is not in us. — I John 1:10.

We cannot say that we are sinless, for the Bible has made our status so plain that anyone can understand. For we are born with built-in wickedness and even if we are not physically active as sinners, our minds still run the whole gamut of sin. Since perfect sacrifices are required in atonement for sin, only Christ Himself could meet this exacting standard. How fortunate we are in being covered by this all-embracing sacrifice.

We thank Thee once again, our Father, for the gift of Thy Son, that we may have eternal life. In His name we give our thanks. Amen.

How To Make Sacrificing A Pleasure

SYLVIA PORTER

Living Costs Flatten, No Drops Anticipated

The cost of living in our land is now leveling off — but that is all it is doing. You cannot expect any significant drop in living costs in the foreseeable future. It won't happen unless we suddenly go into a real business slump. And I'm assuming a real slump will not occur, and I'm assuming no sane American hopes it will occur.

Rather, the most you can expect is a breathing spell — several months in which rises in some living costs will be offset by declines in others, and by careful shopping you'll be able to save dimes and dollars on some purchases, while you're being nicked for extra dimes and dollars on others.

It is good news that the latest official price index shows the prolonged upswing in living cost has now petered out, and while the index to be issued in late December probably will show another increase, the rise will primarily be due to the higher price tags on the new automobile models.

But why did the living cost rise flatten out last month? Because we have moved into a general business slowdown which has restrained price rises on many goods and last month food prices and transportation costs dropped slightly.

Now to get a perspective on the probable future, let's analyze the outlook for the various items in the official price index:

Food: Seasonal patterns indicate that food costs should be going down in early 1958, but the Agriculture Dept. itself predicts food prices will begin inching upward next spring and through mid-1958 at least. What happens to prices on the farm is relatively unimportant to what happens to our food budgets when we go shopping in the stores. Built-in costs of food — labor costs all along the line, processing, transportation, marketing — are relentlessly pushing for high retail food prices.

Housing: This is a catch-all covering everything from the price of a home and rents to the cost of laundry soap and telephone rates. What are the chances for any big drop in shelter costs? Next to zero. Prices may stabilize after an upsurge uninterrupted since World War II. But barring a major economic crack-up, can you reasonably expect marked declines in household repair costs, rents, fuels, household equipment, gas, electricity, telephone rates, dry cleaning, etc? No.

Clothing: Prices of clothing should stabilize and maybe some line will be less expensive. You certainly should be able to save money by shopping the clearances and sales during the next few months. But significant cuts in apparel prices? Not unless we sink into a slump.

Transportation: The cost of transportation was off last month because of discounts on 1957 cars and the cost of transportation will be up when this month's index is released because of higher price tags on 1958 cars. The automobile price trend is only one factor in transportation costs, though. What about public transportation? The most you can hope for is that it won't become more expensive. What about car insurance, registration fee, gas, oil? You know the answers.

Medical Care: This will become more costly, and don't kid yourself into thinking it won't. Rates on sickness and accident policies, premiums on hospitalization service, are being raised. If your physician, dentist or optometrist does anything to his fees, he'll raise them. You have been buying drugs; you are fully aware of the price trend here.

Personal Care: Prices charged for personal care have zoomed a full 27.2 per cent since 1950. The uptrend is not over.

Reading, recreation, such other goods and services as cigarettes, cigars, beer, bank service charges, legal fees: If there are declines in some of these, they'll be offset by rises in others.

Unless our economy goes into a tailspin, the prices of most of the things we buy will not be cut enough to pull down our living cost sharply. And the prices of most of the services we buy will be going up as they have been going up steadily for a quarter-century.

Let's be grateful for the emerging stability and try to preserve it. Let's not expect more.

A survey made by the Traffic Safety Commission of Portland, Oregon, indicates that "following too closely" is the leading cause of accidents. Second is failure to yield right-of-way.

According to the National Association of Food Chains, food prices have increased only 14.7 per cent since 1947-49. By comparison, factory wages are up 55.9 per cent.

In the view of Sylvia Porter, the business and financial analyst, the overwhelming percentage of American homes are under-insured. She writes that a home that was built for $8,000 in 1937 would cost $21,600 today, and that a $38,000 house erected just before World War II couldn't be duplicated for under $100,500 now. An improvement job that could be done for $5,000 in 1946 would cost $7,600 at the present time.

Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine, estimates that about 10 per cent of all personal spending by families and individuals goes for automobiles. It says that in 1956 spending on the family car — including purchases, tires and parts, gas and oil, service charges and other costs — came to $27 billion.

British Surprised At Flying Bombs

The British seem to have been taken by surprise by word that American planes loaded with A-bombs are flying from their island although there has been published a good bit about it in the United States.

Lest Russia becomes overconfident and overadventurous because of her advances in the missile field, the word has been put out that the Strategic Air Command has the big bombers up, ready to go, all the time, and that they can be followed by planes from bases around the world within 15 minutes.

This action will come almost automatically if missiles or bombers rise above the horizon from the direction of Russia. However, British apprehension that this plan of operations will abrogate their agreement with the United States about conferring before action is unnecessary.

This is the way it works. The bombers that are up will head for Russia, and the others will take off. They will not head for Moscow nor aim at population centers. They will be intent on the air bases and missile launching sites which they intend to wipe out, forcing a Russian surrender, within 30 days.

There is no danger, however, that this seemingly automatic initial action will produce war under a misapprehension.

An almost instant communication system will put President Eisenhower and other American and Allied authorities in immediate touch. The evaluation of what the warning system has picked up will be made. If Russia has not launched a war, the planes can be called back. They will not go beyond the point of no return.

In other words, the initial action will merely be a movement into position.

Recent revelations about the capabilities of the B47's, such as are based in Britain, and the B52's which have gone into operation more recently, also lend some encouragement to the hope that, if war does come, it may not be so universally destructive as has been feared.

These new planes are equipped with devices and such accurate maps—the maps are constantly in the planes, just like the bombs—that they bomb with almost unbelievable accuracy. They hit what they don't want to hit only if it is within the destructive range of a bomb which is directly on target.

They have even done this, through precalculated measurements, on targets that are invisible even to radar. Some apprehension has been expressed in Britain over the possibility of accidents to bombed-out planes flying over the island. The word here, however, is that crashes cannot set off these bombs.

The story of the big bombers is a long one, and full of seeming magic. They carry with them not only terrible weapons, but also the world's greatest hope against war.

RIGID PARENTS

Many parents rear their children by the book and are overly concerned should their pride and joy fail to do what is expected at a certain age. When this anxiety persists, the youngster becomes concerned, too, and the seeds are sown for future anxiety and insecurity.

Most parents do the best they can for their children and usually blame themselves when Johnny does not talk at a certain age, Mary, a month younger, is blabbering all over the place. The parents fail to realize that children mature at different rates.

Boys are slower than girls in talking, walking, bowel and bladder control, and even in learning at school. There is nothing to do about it except wait until they are fully grown, after their 18th birthday. Girls shoot up faster than boys at certain ages but more than one neighborhood shrimp has become the 6' 3" player on the university football team.

Numerous problems arise when youngsters are not permitted to develop at their own pace. Emotional conflicts are traced frequently to trouble during these focal points of development. It is well known that children learn to walk at age 1, talk at age 2, and dress and become toilet trained by age 3.

By age 4, many are becoming independent and start showing more interest in other children. They acquire knowledge after going to school, and sex enters the picture during the early teens. Each phase is difficult for the parents, especially if their own experiences have been different. Inactive, passive men and women cannot appreciate the needs of a vigorous, muscular child. The same can be said of active parents of a quiet, passive youngster.

Families who derive satisfaction from cuddling a youngster may become worried and apprehensive when the young child shows independence. They may retard development when they overprotect him in an attempt to prolong babyhood.

In contrast are couples who did not have a happy childhood; they become irritable when the child fails at toilet training or otherwise is slow. These fathers and mothers have an unconscious desire for the youngsters to get childhood over with, instead of allowing their offspring to proceed at their own pace.

Let's not expect more.

Fact And Opinion

Donald R. Richberg, one of the country's most distinguished labor lawyers and once a leading figure in President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal, describes present-day labor unions in these words: "not weak, altruistic organizations of servants of the common good, but . . . strong, selfish, ambitious aggregations of men, seeking to dominate the business and politics of the nation for private profit."

A survey made by the Traffic Safety Commission of Portland, Oregon, indicates that "following too closely" is the leading cause of accidents. Second is failure to yield right-of-way.

According to the National Association of Food Chains, food prices have increased only 14.7 per cent since 1947-49. By comparison, factory wages are up 55.9 per cent.

In the view of Sylvia Porter, the business and financial analyst, the overwhelming percentage of American homes are under-insured. She writes that a home that was built for $8,000 in 1937 would cost $21,600 today, and that a $38,000 house erected just before World War II couldn't be duplicated for under $100,500 now. An improvement job that could be done for $5,000 in 1946 would cost $7,600 at the present time.

Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine, estimates that about 10 per cent of all personal spending by families and individuals goes for automobiles. It says that in 1956 spending on the family car — including purchases, tires and parts, gas and oil, service charges and other costs — came to $27 billion.

Privacy Upheld

Despite the arbitrary and apparently ideological position taken by the United States supreme court on the issue of segregation, there are still many federal district judges who do not believe that all privacy must be invaded for the sake of race-mixing. These judges are still upholding the right of private organizations to select their own membership.

A recent case in point is that in which Federal District Judge Burnita S. Matthews, in a decision rendered in Washington, the domicile of the supreme court, upheld legality of racial segregation in police boys' clubs in the national capital. She ruled that Boys Club of Metropolitan Police, D. C., the corporate name of the organization which operates the clubs, is a private corporation and not an arm or agency of the District of Columbia government.

Judge Matthews said federal court lacks authority "to interfere with the segregation practices of a private corporation."

The ruling was handed down in a suit brought in behalf of Welker C. Mitchell, a Negro minor, who was denied membership in a club operated by white boys. Mitchell, son of Attorney Curtis Mitchell, contended the club corporation was an agency of the district government and that its maintenance of racially segregated clubs is forbidden by the federal constitution.

It would indeed take a long stretch of the imagination to hold that any private club operated by children of police officer was a federal organization. In officers was a federal organization. In reality, not only the children of police officers, but the officers themselves should have the right to organize any sort of legitimate private club they choose without having such an organization branded a federal institution. Even members of congress are entitled to a private life of their own which does not bear any official government stamp. There is no reason that congressmen should not be able to organize a private club without being subject to regulations governing federal institutions.

The supreme court apparently has taken the erroneous position that anyone who holds an official position cannot act in any way other than in an official capacity. This conception is so obviously wrong that it is immediately apparent to any right-thinking person.

Despite this, the supreme court, in its ardent campaign in behalf of integration, ruled in one case that a private school was a public institution simply because city officials had been named administrators of a man's private will, although the officials were in no way acting in their official capacities in administering the will. It finally became necessary to name new administrators to avoid violation of the man's last will and testament.

In view of this obviously arbitrary decision, it is by no means certain that the supreme court will uphold Judge Matthews' ruling.

On the basis of some of the decisions made by the supreme court, no private organization seems to be safe from invasion.

Journalists, Doctors

Newspaper people and doctors have a great deal in common. That is the unusual theme of an editorial in the Louisville Courier Journal, entitled "Press And Medicine Both Serve The People."

The Journal says: "The two professions—medicine and journalism—have some notable points of similarity. Both are concerned with important functions of human life. Doctors strive to preserve and restore human health . . . Journalists deal with the health of human minds in a democracy by trying to keep them adequately informed."

"Both professions are practiced by men and women who are passionate believers in their calling. Here is perhaps the root of some misunderstanding. A doctor believes that all must recognize the nobility of his profession. A journalist is just as convinced that the satis-

Integration Backer Near Committee Chairmanship

Death of Rep. Augustine B. Kelley (Dem. - Pa.) last week brought one of the House's noisiest advocates of integration a step nearer the chairmanship of the House Education and Labor Committee.

He is Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr., the Negro congressman from New York City's teeming Harlem district. In the coming session of Congress he will be second - ranking man on the committee and next in line to the chairmanship.

One of Powell's dubious claims to fame is that in the 84th Congress he authored the so-called Powell amendment to the school construction bill. The amendment would have barred states maintaining segregated schools from receiving the federal assistance.

After a bitter struggle in the House, the Powell amendment was adopted and indirectly led to the bill's defeat.

The Powell amendment again played a large part in the defeat of a school construction bill in the last session of Congress, even though it did not bear his name and Powell did not show up for the final vote. This time the amendment was offered by another New York congressman, Rep. Stuyvesant Wainwright, a Republican.

Both amendments, of course, were aimed at the South and had a school construction bill been passed with such a rider and signed by the President, the hard-pressed South would have ended up paying taxes to build schools in other areas of the country.

The South can be thankful that between Powell and the chairmanship of the important Education and Labor Committee stands a robust and resolute North Carolina Democrat, Graham A. Barden.

The committee overrode the 61-year-old Barden in reporting the school bills but as chairman he has been in a position to slow up progress of such legislation considerably and to help shape its final form, even though opposed to its passage.

Barden has no intention of yielding his post as chairman of the committee to Powell or anyone else unless forced to by illness, retirement, defeat at the polls, or an unexpected GOP victory next year wrenching control of the House from the Democrats.

Observers from North Carolina say that the congressman's role as buffer between the ardent integrationist Powell and the committee chairmanship insures Barden's reelection as many times as he desires to run.

However, should Barden, a veteran of 23 years of Congress, decide unexpectedly not to seek reelection next year, or if, also unexpectedly, he should be defeated, Powell is slated by seniority to step into the chairmanship. This, of course, is provided that Democrats control the House.

In any event, Powell would not assume the chairmanship without a battle. Speaker Sam Rayburn (Dem. - Tex.) and other Democratic leaders are boiling mad at Powell for his open support of President Eisenhower in the 1956 election and at one point threatened to discipline him.

They could be expected to make some effort to skirt the hard-and-fast rules of seniority which have applied in the House for half a century, and which would assure Powell of the post Barden now holds.

But, in the last analysis the very fact that Powell is a Negro probably would assure him of victory. This, of course, is due to the giant struggle between the two major political parties for the Negro vote. Even though Speaker Rayburn might still burn over Powell's crossing party lines during the last congressional election, his own loyalty to the Democratic party could be counted on to prevent his taking a step that might drive Negro voters to the GOP camp.

Daily Devotions

If we say that we have not sinned, we make Him a liar and His Word is not in us.—1 John 1:10.

We cannot say that we are sinless, for the Bible has made our status so plain that anyone can understand. For we are born with built-in wickedness and even if we are not physically active as sinners, our minds still run the whole gamut of sin. Since perfect sacrifices are required in atonement for sin, only Christ Himself could meet this exacting standard. How fortunate we are in being covered by this all-embracing sacrifice.

We thank Thee once again, our Father, for the gift of Thy Son, that we may have eternal life. In His name we give our thanks. Amen.

Living Costs Flatten, No Drops Anticipated

The cost of living in our land is now leveling off—but that is all it is doing.

You cannot expect any significant drop in living costs in the foreseeable future. It won't happen unless we suddenly go into a real business slump. And I'm assuming a real slump will not occur, and I'm assuming no sane American hopes it will occur.

Rather, the most you can expect is a breathing spell—several months in which rises in some living costs will be offset by declines in others, and by careful shopping you'll be able to save dimes and dollars on some purchases, while you're being nicked for extra dimes and dollars on others.

It is good news that the latest official price index shows the prolonged upswing in living cost has now petered out, and while the index to be issued in late December probably will show another increase, the rise will primarily be due to the higher price tags on the new automobile models.

But why did the living cost rise flatten out last month? Because we have moved into a general business slowdown which has restrained price rises on many goods and last month food prices and transportation costs dropped slightly.

Now to get a perspective on the probable future, let's analyze the outlook for the various items in the official price index:

Food: Seasonal patterns indicate that food costs should be going down in early 1958, but the Agriculture Dept. itself predicts food prices will begin inching upward next spring and through mid-1958 at least. What happens to prices on the farm is relatively unimportant to what happens to our food budgets when we go shopping in the stores. Built-in costs of food—labor costs all along the line, processing, transportation, marketing—are relentlessly pushing for high retail food prices.

Housing: This is a catch-all covering everything from the price of a home and rents to the cost of laundry soap and telephone rates. What are the chances for any big drop in shelter costs? Next to zero. Prices may stabilize after an upsurge uninterrupted since World War II. But barring a major economic crack-up, can you reasonably expect marked declines in household repair costs, rents, fuels, household equipment, gas, electricity, telephone rates, dry cleaning, etc.?

Clothing: Prices of clothing should stabilize and maybe some line will be less expensive. You certainly should be able to save money by shopping the clearances and sales during the next few months. But significant cuts in apparel prices? Not unless we sink into a slump.

Transportation: The cost of transportation was off last month because of discounts on 1957 cars, and the cost of transportation will be up when this month's index is released because of higher price tags on 1958 cars. The automobile factor in transportation costs, though, what about public transportation? The most you can hope for is that it won't become more expensive. What about car insurance, registration fee, gas, oil? You know the answers.

Medical Care: This will become more costly, and don't kid yourself into thinking it won't. Rates on sickness and accident policies, premiums on hospitalization services are being raised. If your physician, dentist or optometrist does anything to his fees, he'll raise them. You have been buying drugs; you are fully aware of the price trend here.

Personal Care: Prices charged for personal care have zoomed a full 27.2 per cent since 1950. The uptrend is not over.

Reading, recreation, such other goods and services as cigarettes, cigars, beer, bank service charges, legal fees: If there are declines in some of these, they'll be offset by rises in other.

Unless our economy goes into a tailspin, the prices of most of the things we buy will not be cut enough to pull down our living cost sharply. And the prices of most of the services we buy will be going up as they have been going up steadily for a quarter-century.

Let's be grateful for the emerging stability and try to preserve it. Let's not expect more.

British Surprised At Flying Bombs

The British seem to have been taken by surprise by word that American planes loaded with A-bombs are flying from their island although there has been published a good bit about it in the United States.

Recent Russia becomes overconfident and overadventurous because of her advances in the missile field, the word has been put out that the Strategic Air Command has the big bombers up, ready to go, all the time, and that they can be followed by planes from bases around the world within 15 minutes.

This action will come almost automatically if missiles or bombers rise above the horizon from the direction of Russia.

However, British apprehension that this plan of operations will abrogate their agreement with the United States about conferring before action is unnecessary.

This is the way it works:

The bombers that are up will head for Russia, and the others will take off. They will not head for Moscow nor aim at population centers. They will be intent on the air bases and missile launching sites which they intend to wipe out, forcing a Russian surrender, within 30 days.

There is no danger, however, that this seemingly automatic initial action will produce war under a misapprehension.

An almost instant communication system will put President Eisenhower and other American and Allied authorities in immediate touch. The evaluation of what the warning system has picked up will be made. If Russia has not launched a war, the planes can be called back. They will not go beyond the point of no return.

In other words, the initial action will merely be a movement into position.

Recent revelations about the capabilities of the B47's, such as are based in Britain, and the B52's which have gone into operation more recently, also lend some encouragement to the hope that, if war does come, it may not be so universally destructive as has been feared.

These new planes are equipped with devices and such accurate maps—the maps are constantly in the planes just like the bombs—that they bomb with almost unbelievable accuracy. They hit what they don't want to hit only if it is within the destructive range of a bomb which is directly on target.

They have even done this, through precalculated measurements, on targets that are invisible even to radar.

Some apprehension has been expressed in Britain over the possibility of accidents to bombed-up planes flying over the island. The word here, however, is that crashes cannot set off these bombs.

The story of the big bombers is a long one, and full of seeming magic. They carry with them not only terrible weapons, but also the world's greatest hope against war.

Expansion Slated On Great Lakes

Every port city on the Great Lakes has a big stake in the soon-to-be-completed St. Lawrence Seaway. Each plans dynamic expansion. No place is the growth likely to be more explosive than in the Lake Calumet area south of Chicago's Loop.

Here world cargoes will be delivered by deep water directly to the geographical heartland of the United States, the hub of an already established network of rail, barge and truck lines which can take it anywhere from there.

Lake Calumet connects with seven thousand miles of navigable rivers.

To the midlands of America, boxed in between two mountain ranges, this easy access will make dollars and sense to world markets.

And the already jammed Chicago Harbor (downtown) has no room for expansion, no prompt egress.

So the Calumet Lake, connecting Lake Michigan to the inland waterways, is already the scene of a dramatic development program.

New transit sheds and warehouses line the lake, the shoreline is fast becoming a series of slips for great ships, the area itself fully intends to become another Brooklyn.

You understand, of course, that the locks which now limit Great Lakes traffic to about a 1,500-ton payload will be expanded to take 10,000 tons.

That is, all freighters and most tankers.

Estimate the potential world traffic from industry already established in this area. The Fordes are assembled in Chicago, then in Detroit. More steel is produced in this area than in Pittsburgh.

Chicago Harborland expects a new boom, largely resulting from this international freight traffic, that will provide employment for an additional half-million workers over the next five years.

Already wages in Chicago are at an all-time high . . . and parking space at a desperate low.

So there will be problems, too. The geographical center of this spider web of transportation arteries has been warned of increased petty thievery, which plagues port cities. And increased opportunities for narcotics smuggling, already a major metropolitan problem.

But with anticipation and planning, these negative side-effects will be minimized.

Expansion of America's lake ports will deliver an important new supply of economic adrenaline to our every commercial artery . . .

If there is no "funny business" . . . If there is no sudden high toll on water traffic, intended to "protect" other carriers . . .

If Americans have sufficient vision to make the most of this new horizon, the increase is inestimable . . . for us all.

Two Men Killed At Rail Crossing

RAYVILLE (Special) — Funeral arrangements were announced for two local men killed yesterday when a train hit their road grader one mile east of here.

Services for Jesse M. Moton, 35, and Elbert P. Worthey, 49, will both be handled by Gay's Funeral Home of Delhi.

The Moton service will be from Bethel Baptist Church at 2 p.m. today. The body will lie in state in Gay's Chapel until 10 a.m., then be taken to the church and lie in state there until time for services. The Rev. Fred Keys will officiate. Interment will follow in Bethel cemetery north of Holly Ridge.

Survivors include his wife, Louise; a daughter, Sarah Ann, of Rayville; two sons, Glynn, a student at Northeast in Monroe, and Jesse, Jr., Rayville; three sisters, Mrs. Reba Minstead, Sterling; Mrs. Mabel M. Watkins Sterling; Mrs. Clyde Nash, Spearsville; two brothers, Harvey, Mansfield, and Artis, Shreveport.

Time for the Worthey services, which will be from Grace Baptist Church, has not yet been set. The Rev. Anders will officiate, and interment will follow in Beach cemetery.

The body will lie in state in Gay's chapel until time for services.

Worthey had worked for Richard Parish Highway department for 12 years.

Final arrangements were pending the arrival from New Orleans of a sister, Mrs. Malissia Weir. He is also survived by a niece, Mrs. Frances Greer of Rayville.

Pallbearers will be Jack Beach, A. J. Beach, Monroe Beach, Mose Beach, Henry Farmer, and L. V. Telbard.

The accident occurred at Perkins Crossing on a 35-mile stretch of track. J. J. Culbert, conductor of Engine 265, said the train sounded its whistle to warn the driver.

"There was no obstruction of vision... no reason I know of why the machine did not clear the track," Culbert said.

The mangled bodies of the parish employees were thrown through the cab of the grader into a ditch. The train knocked the grader off the track along the track.

Frank Davis, Negro, employee of Ed Perkins Livestock Barn, located near the wreck, said he heard the train blow and looked out a window. Just prior to the tragedy, Davis said he had seen one of the men climb off the back of the machine and into the cab.

"The grader was barely moving," Davis related. "The train hit the motor patrol about midways, knocking it into the ditch. The train came to a stop about 50 feet further down the track," the witness recounted.

Conductor Culbert said the engineer, H. L. Clark, about 60, of Shreveport, was traveling about 45 miles an hour on the straight stretch. The eight-car train, pulling one passenger, one pullman and mail and express cars, was en route from Meridian, Miss., to Shreveport.

The engine was slightly damaged, but none of the passengers were shaken up, the conductor reported.

Get Endorsement On Tourist Guide

A state-wide tourist guide has received the endorsement of the Louisiana Municipal Association, and will be the first publication of its kind ever to be prepared in Louisiana.

Mayor J. Alvin Norris of West Monroe recently received a letter from the association, in which it was pointed out that mayors from all over the state gave support to similar publications which have been printed earlier, and which requested backing on this new project.

Norris said he believed this guide will be of great help to the state, both in gaining greater prestige and in attracting more industries.

Features of various Louisiana localities will be emphasized, along with historical background and specific attractions of the area. About 40,000 copies of the guide, entitled, "Where To Go, What To Do, Who To See," are expected to be published.

HEARINGS MONDAY

Southern Bell To Seek Rate Hikes

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 29 (AP) — The Southern Bell Telephone Co. will open its bid Monday for a seven million dollar rate hike to offset a reduction ordered last year by the Louisiana Public Service Commission.

The company also asked a full scale study of its finances for the purpose of fixing permanent rates.

Secretary Clayton Coleman said the commission first would hear evidence presented by Southern Bell, then commission counsel then Canceled will present his case against a rate reduction. Hearings probably will last several days.

In October, the commission turned down a request by Southern Bell to put the higher rates into effect before the hearings on whether they are justified.

The company contended "without an improvement in earnings, the betterment and expansion of telephone service, which we are anxious to continue, must be severely limited."

The commission has retained Arnold Hirsch, Washington utilities expert who worked in the previous case that resulted in a rate reduction.

The commission has directed Southern Bell to keep a separate account of the "large amounts" of money being spent in advertising the campaign for higher rates in Louisiana.

In 1956, the commission directed Southern Bell to reduce its Louisiana earnings $3,940,000 by means of a 20 per cent cut in long distance calls within the state and reduction of pay station calls from a dime to five cents.

The State Supreme Court unanimously affirmed that decision

Cases Against 30 In District Court

Cases with charges against 30 persons came before Judge Jesse Heard in Fourth District Court yesterday morning.

Charged with driving while intoxicated as a fourth offender was William O. Truett. He pleaded not guilty, and the case was set for trial on Feb. 18, 1958.

Tony Halachoulis, charged with two counts of issuing worthless checks -- for $100, and $160.73 -- pleaded not guilty, and will be tried on Feb. 4.

T. J. Franklin denied two counts of attempted murder and will be tried on Feb. 17. He is charged with the Nov. 9 shooting of two persons, including his wife.

Reckless driving cost Willie L. Ventson $50 and 30 days in jail. The case against Kenneth R. Mercer, charged with the same offense, was continued indefinitely.

Trial Set

Trial is set for Dec. 6 for Benjamin Carter, on four counts of making an anonymous, obscene telephone call.

Cases of driving while intoxicated, against Marian J. Sturgia and Jack L. Moses, are set for trial on Dec. 13. Herman F. Waley will be tried for the same offense on Jan. 24. Fredrick L. Kyzar, also charged with driving while intoxicated, failed to appear, and forfeited bond.

Ormal M. Frith, Charles E. Patterson, and March Heckard each admitted drunk driving and were fined $300 or 90 days in jail. James D. Westberry will be arraigned as a second offender on a driving while intoxicated charge on Dec. 6.

Roosevelt Reed admitted a charge of disturbing the peace and was remanded for sentencing until Dec. 23. Mary Elizabeth offense, will be tried on Jan. 10.

Other Cases

Jerry D. Walls was fined $25 or 10 days in jail on each of two charges. He admitted driving after his license had been revoked, and without a 1957 license tag.

Robert Sherman admitted disturbing the peace and was fined $25 or 10 days in jail. Willie E. Martin drew 10 days in jail or a $25 fine for driving without a license.

The case against C. L. May, charged with disturbing the peace was dropped.

Millard Morris denied receiving charged with hunting without a license.

Called on bond, when he failed to appear in answer to a speeding charge, was Walter Herman Sanders.

On charges of driving without a license, J. W. McClain and Alvin B. Fletcher each pleaded not guilty, and trial for both will be on Jan. 10. Mrs. Elaine F. Dove will also be tried on Jan. 10, for driving without a license and while under the influence of an alcoholic beverage.

Ida B. Armstrong and Polly Freeman Acklin each, was fined $25 or 10 days in jail for driving without a license.

Driving with an overwidth load on a vehicle was denied by James T. Allen, who will be tried on the charge on Dec. 20.

Sam Marble and Marvin W. Matlock each denied driving while intoxicated and will be tried on Jan. 10.

Little Mae White will stand trial on Feb. 19 on charges of theft of a car worth $200.

NEAR RAYVILLE

Two Men Killed At Rail Crossing

RAYVILLE (Special) — Funeral arrangements were announced for two local men killed yesterday when a train hit their road grader one mile east of here.

Services for Jesse M. Moton, 55, and Elbert P. Worthey, 49, will both be handled by Gay's Funeral Home of Delhi.

The Moton service will be from Bethel Baptist Church at 2 p.m. today. The body will lie in state in Gay's Chapel until 10 a.m., then be taken to the church and lie in state there until time for services. The Rev. Fred Keys will officiate. Interment will follow in Bethel cemetery north of Holly Ridge.

Survivors include his wife, Louise; a daughter, Sarah Ann, of Rayville; two sons, Glynn, a student at Northeast in Monroe, and Jesse, Jr., Rayville; three sisters, Mrs. Reba Milstead, Sterling; Mrs. Mabel M. Matkins, Sterling; Mrs. Clyde Nash, Spearsville; two brothers, Harvey, Mansfield, and Artis, Shreveport.

Time for the Worthey services, which will be from Grace Baptist Church, has not yet been set. The Rev. Anders will officiate, and interment will follow in Beach cemetery.

The body will lie in state in Gay's chapel until time for services.

Worthey had worked for Richland Parish Highway department for 12 years.

Final arrangements were pending the arrival from New Orleans of a sister, Mrs. Malissia Weir. He is also survived by a niece, Mrs. Frances Greer of Rayville.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. today at the home of Mrs. A. J. Beach, Monroe Beach, Mose Beach, Henry Farmer, and L. V. Telford.

The accident occurred at Perkins Crossing on a 35-mile stretch of track. J. J. Cuthbert, conductor of Engine 205, said the train sounded its whistle to warn the driver.

"There was no obstruction of vision... no reason I know of why the machine did not clear the track," Cuthbert said.

The mangled bodies of the parish employees were thrown through the cab of the grader into a ditch. The train knocked the grader off the track along the track.

Frank Davis, Negro, employee of Ed Perkins Livestock Barn, located near the wreck, said he heard the train blow and looked out a window. Just prior to the tragedy, Davis said he had seen one of the men climb off the back of the machine and into the cab.

"The grader was barely moving," Davis related. "The train hit the motor patrol about midway, knocking it into the ditch. The train came to a stop about 50 feet further down the track," the witness recounted.

Conductor Cuthbert said the engineer, H. L. Clark, about 60, of Shreveport, was traveling about 45 miles an hour on the straight stretch. The eight-car train, pulling one passenger, one pullman and mail and express cars, was en route from Meridian, Miss., to Shreveport.

The engine was slightly damaged, but none of the passengers were shaken up, the conductor reported.

Get Endorsement On Tourist Guide

A state-wide tourist guide has received the endorsement of the Louisiana Municipal Association, and will be the first publication of its kind ever to be prepared in Louisiana.

Mayor J. Alan Norris of West Monroe recently received a letter from the association, in which it was pointed out that mayors from all over the state gave support to similar publications which have been printed earlier, and which requested backing on this new project.

Norris said he believed this guide will be of great help to the state, both in gaining greater prestige and in attracting more industries.

Features of various Louisiana localities will be emphasized, along with historical background and specific attractions of the area. About 40,000 copies of the guide, entitled, "Where To Go, What To Do, Who To See," are expected to be published.

HEARINGS MONDAY

Southern Bell To Seek Rate Hikes

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 29 (AP) — The Southern Bell Telephone Co. will open its bid Monday for a seven million dollar rate hike to offset a reduction ordered last year by the Louisiana Public Service Commission.

The company also asked for a full scale study of its finances for the purpose of fixing permanent rates.

Secretary Clayton Coleman said the commission first would hear evidence presented by Southern Bell, then commission counsel Theo Cangelosi will present his case against a rate reduction. Hearings probably will last several days.

In October, the commission turned down a request by Southern Bell to put the higher rates into effect before the hearings on whether they are justified.

The company contended "without an improvement in earnings, the betterment and expansion of telephone service, which we are anxious to continue, must be severely limited."

The commission has retained Arnold Hirsch, Washington utilities expert who worked in the previous case that resulted in a rate reduction.

The commission has directed Southern Bell to keep a separate account of the "large amounts" of money being spent in advertising the campaign for higher rates in Louisiana.

In 1956, the commission directed Southern Bell to reduce its Louisiana earnings $3,940,000 by means of a 20 per cent cut in long distance calls within the state and reduction of pay station calls from a dime to five cents.

The State Supreme Court unanimously affirmed that decision earlier this year and the telephone company made refunds retroactive to the date of the commission's order.

Southern Bell contended wage increases and other rising costs have squeezed earnings so it cannot obtain funds for necessary expansion of services.

First Armored To Be Replaced At Fort Polk

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP) — The 1st Armored Division at Ft. Polk, La., will be replaced by "Combat Command A," a much smaller unit, on Dec. 23, the Army announced today.

Inactivation of the 1st Armored Division was announced last month. The Army said the division's colors and trophies and about 5,000 of its officers and men will serve in the new unit.

Major units of the division which will be absorbed by the Combat Command are two medium tank battalions, an infantry battalion, two artillery battalions and a reconnaissance squadron.

The retirement of the division is in line with the announced plan to reduce Army division strength to 15 by next June. The new combat commands are being organized and equipped to operate as independent units in atomic warfare.

GLAUDI SAYS:

Ags Are Taking Sugar Bowl Bid

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 29 (UP)—A New Orleans sports editor said today Texas A&M coach Paul (Bear) Bryant accepted a bid for his team to play in the Sugar Bowl January 1.

Hap Glaudi, sports editor of the New Orleans Item, said Bryant accepted an invitation immediately following the Aggies' 9-7 defeat at the hands of Texas Thursday.

Glaudi said the Aggies New Year's Day opponent will be either Mississippi State or Mississippi, who play Saturday.

"The choice will probably be Ole Miss," Glaudi said.

New Orleans' other afternoon daily, the New Orleans States, called the Aggie report, "bowl rumors... that's all they are."

Paul DeBlanc, president of the Mid-Winter Sports Association, which runs the Sugar Bowl, said no team has been invited to the Sugar Bowl yet.

Sugar Bowl general manager Fred Digby would confirm only that "The State of Texas and the State of Mississippi will be represented in the Sugar Bowl."

"But anything else you hear prior to 5 p.m. CST tomorrow is speculation," Digby said.

The official announcement comes from the Sugar Bowl at 5 p.m. Saturday, the last day of conference play in the Southeastern and Southwestern loops.

Coach Bryant was deer hunting in South Texas today and could not be reached for comment.

A&M Faculty Chairman of Athletics Chris Groneman said "I didn't know that," when told of the bowl report.

"We have given him (Bryant) authority to accept an invitation, if one is tendered, pending approval of the Southwest Conference, and if the boys want to play," Dr. Groneman said.

Digby said early this month the SEC representative would be Mis-issippi State, Mississippi or Tennessee. After his comment, Tennessee lost two games, which practically eliminated the Vols.

Mississippi and Mississippi State play Saturday afternoon. So far this season Mississippi has lost only to Arkansas, a non-conference team. State lost two conference games.

Sports editor Glaudi said the Aggie invitation will be made official Saturday.

"The Aggies, despite their two defeats by a mere three points (7 to 6 by Rice and 9 to 7 by Texas) are a most desirable Sugar Bowl selection," Glaudi wrote. "The Ags are certain to remain one of the nation's ranked teams and boast two bona-fide all-America players in back John Crow of Springhill, La., and tackle Charles Krueger."

Glaudi said Bryant informed newsmen he would have a bowl game announcement at 5:30 p.m. Thursday.

"He was unable to do so, however, because of NCAA regulations which request that bowl announcements not be made until Saturday after completion of the games in the conference."

Bryant's 1951 Kentucky team upset Oklahoma 13 to 7 and the Aggies defeated Tulane 14 to 13 in 1940 for an all-time Sugar Bowl thriller.

If Rice defeats Baylor in Saturday's Southwestern Conference window, Rice gets the Cotton Bowl nod. If Rice is defeated or tied, Texas could snag the Cotton Bowl bid theoretically leaving the Aggies and Rice as Sugar Bowl potentials.

JONESBORO-HODGE WINS

Simsboro Upset In Quitman Meet

QUITMAN, La. (Special) — Second-seeded Simsboro was jolted out of title contention by Quitman, 54-38, here last night in the semi-finals of the Quitman Invitational Basketball Tournament.

Jonesboro - Hodge, the tourney favorite, whipped Saline, 57-53, in the night's other game of the all-boys tournament.

Quitman and Jonesboro - Hodge will play for the tournament championship in the finals tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

Saline and Saline trophy for the consolation battle at 7 o'clock.

Malcolm George sank 20 points to lead the tourney's host team in the upset of Simsboro. Edmiston's 16 points was the best for the losers. The teams were tied, 12-12, at the end of the first quarter but Quitman edged three points ahead in the second and won going away.

Simsboro and Jonesboro - Hodge had been figured for the tourney's two top teams in pre-game speculation with Quitman the probable third place finisher.

Jonesboro - Hodge rallied in the third quarter to go ahead of Saline in the night's first game, the most exciting of the tournament thus far.

Saline led, 14-12, at the end of one and 29-27 at halftime. The winners poured in 18 points in a hot third period to go ahead, 45-38, and held their lead in the final frame.

Jackie Hightower led the J-H pointmakers with 21 points and Wayne led the losers with 10.

DID BEST WITH LESS

Name Pilney Coach Of The Year In Southeastern Loop

By MERCER BAILEY
ATLANTA, Nov. 29 (AP)—Andy Pilney of Tulane, a man who gets maximum-plus mileage out of a minimum of material, today was named coach of the year in the Southeastern Conference.

The honor was bestowed on the 44-year-old Greenie coach by the Associated Press regional advisory board of sports writers and sportscasters who have been surveying SEC football all season.

This is the first time the newsmen, who annually screen all-America prospects and select the all-SEC team, have named a coach of the year.

The consensus of the board members was that no coach in the 12-team league has done a more outstanding job with the material available than Pilney has.

The Greenies' won-lost record is not impressive. Going into the season finale tomorrow against arch-rival Louisiana State, Tulane has won only two and lost seven.

But Pilney's undermanned Greenies never quit trying and such teams as Army and Georgia Tech got bad frights before they finally outscored Tulane.

During one of his frequent after-dinner talks this fall, Pilney remarked: "A lot of people ask me if I'm not afraid of losing my job. I always tell them, 'not a bit. Nobody else wants it.'"

The former backfield great at Notre Dame, concluding his fourth year at Tulane, was being humorous — but he stuck close to the truth, too.

Tulane, a non-state-supported university, does not place quite the emphasis on winning football that most of the other Southeastern Conference schools do. Because of the school's somewhat "Ivy League-ish" approach to football, Tulane doesn't win many recruiting wars.

That means the material Pilney has to work with doesn't match that of his fellow coaches in quantity and quality.

"I think the job Pilney has done has been absolutely amazing," said board member Carl Walters of The Jackson (Miss.) Clarion-Ledger. "He has done more with less than any coach in the league."

"He had such poor material, yet considering the opposition his team has a pretty fair record," said sports editor Raymond Johnson of The Nashville Tennessean. "Except in the Mississippi game, where everything went wrong for Tulane, his team played every body a pretty close game. They gave Army a heck of a fight."

Other board members agreed and Pilney won the honor by a landslide. In addition to Walters and Johnson, the board members are sports editor Jesse Outlaw of The Atlanta Constitution; sports editor Larry Shropshire of The Lexington (Ky.) Leader; sports editor Jack Hairston of The Jacksonville (Fla.) Journal; assistant sports editor Benny Marshall of The Birmingham News; and sports director Eddie Price of WWL-TV, New Orleans.

As a coach, Pilney is a stickler for fundamentals but he also believes imagination and daring are key factors in football. His variations of the split-T attack produce colorful, interesting football.

As a player, Pilney's greatest day came on Nov. 2, 1953. He led Notre Dame to three touchdowns in the final quarter and the Irish beat Ohio State 18-13. Pilney set up one touchdown with a pass to the Buckeye's, passed for the second and set up the third with a 32-yard run with about a minute to play.

Both squads were in good shape with the exception of Rebel halfback Billy Lott, who broke a collar bone in the Tennessee game. Lott, now a senior, was out of the 1956 games against State because of a knee injury.

Mississippi coach Johnny Vaughn, who has never been beaten by a State team, indicated his starting backfield would be quarterback Ray Brown, halfbacks Billy Reed and Ken Lovelace and fullback Bill Hurst.

State coach Wade Walker will have star quarterback Billy Stacy working with Gil Peterson and Bubber Trammell at the halfback posts and Molly Halbert at fullback.

Mississippi enters the game with a 9-1 overall record—the only loss being to Arkansas—and a 5-0 mark in the conference. State now has a 6-2 all-game record and 4-2 in the conference.

In their rivalry, dating back to 1901, Mississippi has won 26 times and State has 24 victories. Three games were tied.

Auto Accident Fatal To Grid Star Sidwell

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 29 (AP)—An early morning highway accident today claimed the life of Charlie Sidwell, 1956 All-Southern Conference halfback on William and Mary's football team.

The car in which the 25-year-old Portsmouth, Va. resident was riding alone plunged down a 10-foot embankment alongside U. S. 60, six miles east of Richmond, and struck a tree. Police said Sidwell apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his eastbound car.

Sidwell quit college football earlier this month to sign with the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League. The Browns drafted him while he still had two years to play at the Williamsburg school. This was permitted because Sidwell was a war veteran and his class had graduated.

When he left the team earlier this month, Sidwell told William and Mary Coach Milt Drewer he had "lost incentive" for college football.

Police and wrecker crews worked for 30 minutes to free Sidwell's body from the wreckage of his 1950 - model car. Its roof was caved in to within inches of the seat on the driver's side.

Sidwell's performance for a non-winning William and Mary team last year earned him honorable mention on the Associated Press All - America team. He ranked third in the nation in kickoff returns and fifth in the nation in punt returns.

He was a powerful runner. Head Coach Bo Sherman of George Washington last year called Sidwell "the finest back we faced all season without a doubt." And the Navy team voted the Korean War veteran "the best back to play against Navy in 1956."

A senior this year, Sidwell played seven games. Before the 1957 season opened, Southern Conference coaches were almost unanimous in nominating him as the prospective back of the year in the 10 - team league.

In his seven games this year Sidwell ranked fourth in the conference in rushing and was third among the league's punters.

At the college, dean of men Dr. Joe D. Farrar said:

"It is with deep shock to those of us at the College of William and Mary to learn of the tragic death of Charlie Sidwell. I'm sure this expresses the sentiment of the entire student body."

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Willie Vaughn Victor Over Tiger Jones

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (UP)—Lanky Willie Vaughn took advantage of his long arms tonight to tag Ralph (Tiger) Jones at long range with left jabs and straight rights for a unanimous 10-round decision in their middleweight TV fight at Madison Square Garden.

Vaughn of Los Angeles favored at 8-5, out-boxed and out-punched Jones of St. Albans, N.Y., and at times slowed down the durable "Tiger" to a walk.

Willie, weighing 161 pounds to Jones' 160, won on a rounds basis as follows referee Teddy Marton, 7-3; Judge Frank Forbes, 5-3-2; and Judge Bert Grant, 6-4. The United Press agreed, 7-3.

There were no knockdowns, but both fell to the canvas in the sixth round, and Vaughn wrestled Jones to the floor in the ninth. The Tiger's nose bled slightly in the sixth.

Greenies Hold Last Practice

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 29 (AP)—Tulane held its last workout today before tomorrow's football game with Louisiana State in Baton Rouge.

Tulane concentrated on passing, kicking and kick-off returns. Two halfbacks, Virgil Jester and Gene Tarzetti, continued to stay out of practice because of injuries. Both will be out of tomorrow's game.

The squad leaves for Baton Rouge tomorrow morning by train.

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Nov. 29 (AP)—Mississippi and Mississippi State clash tomorrow for the 54th time before a sellout crowd of 35,000 and with bowl hopes adding luster to the season-ending game.

In addition to the tradition, this is the big one for each team.

Mississippi has two prime objectives—the Southeastern Conference title and a bid to the Sugar Bowl. To win the SEC championship, the Rebels have to down the most successful State team since 1947 while Auburn wallops Alabama.

If both Mississippi and Auburn win, they will share the loop title.

The bowl-hungry Maroons have not gone to a post-season classic since they journeyed to the Orange Bowl in 1941 and stopped Georgetown 14-7. A victory over the Rebels would keep State high among the bowl eligibles.

Both squads were in good shape with the exception of Rebel half-

Rosen Rejects Comeback Try In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 29 (UP)—Former Indians slugger Al Rosen — admitting he still has "some good baseball left in me," but bowing to family allegiance and his business future — today rejected a comeback bid in Cleveland baseball.

The 33-year-old former third baseman announced his decision this morning following a conference with new Indians general manager Frank Lane at Municipal Stadium.

"I'm not going to try a comeback," Rosen's prepared statement said, "although I feel definitely and honestly that I still have some good baseball in me."

Rosen explained his decision was governed by two factors:

"I have an allegiance to my family," he explained. "We are permanent residents of Cleveland. We are building to a stable future here."

And he cited his job with the investment firm of Bache & Co. as "the field of business I can enjoy, and which the earning possibilities are unlimited."

"I would like to offer my services," he added, "to Mr. Lane and the entire Cleveland Baseball organization..." He suggests that his services might be "helpful in guidance of young players, or in any capacity that would help the game in Cleveland."

"To the fans of Cleveland, and especially to those friends who have felt I could still hit a few home runs and play an acceptable third base," he concluded, "I say 'thanks' most sincerely."

Judge Declares Lane Must Face Charges Monday

DETROIT, Nov. 29 (AP)—Bobby Layne, Detroit Lions quarterback, must stand trial Monday on a drunk driving charge traffic Judge John D. Watts ruled today.

A delay had been asked by Layne's attorney, who said he was tied up in a circuit court trial.

Layne was arrested in the wee hours of Sept. 17 on Detroit's Grand River avenue.

Watts noted that Lions' officials asked trial Oct. 15 and that when everyone had been assembled they requested a postponement.

At that time Watts told Layne to pick a date to suit him before the end of the year and Layne picked Dec. 2.

55TH MEETING

LSU, Tulane Renew Grid Feud With Tigers Favored

BATON ROUGE, La. (Special) Louisiana State and Tulane, the bayou country's bitterest rivals battle for the 55th time here this afternoon in the finale of the 1957 football season.

Over 50,000 fans are expected to see Tulane, a slight underdog, shoot for its first victory over the arch-rival Tigers since 1948. Kickoff is set for 2 p.m.

L.S.U., off a better record and better, performance against common opponents, is a slim choice over Andy Pilney's Greenies.

L.S.U. under Paul Dietzel has a 4-5 record, while Tulane has a 2-7 mark.

But in this wacky, bewildering series, the favorite is the underdog. Since the Tigers and Greenies started back in 1893, upsets and close games have been the commonplace.

Last year underdog L.S.U. upset the Greenies, 7-6, on the strength of a terrific one-man show by fullback Jimmy Taylor. Taylor, now a senior and the leading rusher and scorer in the Southeastern Conference, is back to lead L.S.U. against the Greenies Saturday.

Tulane has its old hero, quarterback Gene Newton, back to direct this game. Newton guided the Greenies to a 13-13 tie with favored L.S.U. in 1955.

Tulane started slow but has picked up steam, losing a close game (20-14) to top-ranked Army in its last outing. L.S.U. started fast but slumped, losing its last four games.

The Tulane-L.S.U. series is the longest on the record of both schools and has provided some of the most outstanding games that either team has been involved in over the years.

The rival eleven met for the first time back in 1893 and with the exception of 1894, 1902, 1903, 1905, 1907, 1909, 1910 and 1918 fullback.

ARMY-NAVY HEADS LIST

Bowl Bids, Championships In Last Big Grid Saturday

By JIM KENSIL
The Associated Press

It's showdown day in college football. Bowl bids, the national championship and All - America berths are on the line in a solid brace of traditional games scheduled for the last big Saturday of 1957.

Atop the list of key games is the Army-Navy battle at Philadelphia where 100,000 persons are expected to jam spacious Municipal Stadium for the 58th renewal of the service classic.

Although victory is paramount, as always in the nationally televised Middle - Cadet clash, Navy also will be shooting for a Cotton Bowl berth against the Southwest Conference champion on New Year's day. Army has announced that it will not be receptive to a bowl bid.

Additionally, Navy quarterback Tom Forrestal and Army halfback Bob Anderson are prime choices for All-America.

A Navy victory plus a triumph by Rice over Baylor at Houston, Tex., would settle the Cotton Bowl picture by nightfall. Rice currently leads the Southwest race and needs only to win today to capture the crown and the bowl bid that goes with it. However, should Baylor, without a conference victory on its record, knock off the Owls, the double plum would be Texas'. A Rice-Baylor tie would mean conference co-champions, but Texas would get the bowl bid by virtue of a 19-14 regular season decision over Rice.

Texas, which defeated Texas A&M Thursday, is also a hot choice for the New Orleans' Sugar Bowl which will, probably match the winner of today's Mississippi - Mississippi State game with the Southwest runner-up.

Mississippi can finish first, tie for first or second in the Southeastern Conference. If Mississippi whips its state rival, and Auburn, the nation's No. 1 team, defeat Alabama, Mississippi and Auburn will share the SEC crown. If either loses and the other wins, the victorious team is the champ. If both lose or both tie, Auburn gets the title on a percentage basis. Auburn is 6-0 in the league, Mississippi 5-0.

Auburn, banned from bowl participation by NCAA edict, needs an impressive performance to finish as the national champion.

Ohio State, the Big Ten Rose Bowl choice, and Michigan State, ranked second and third, respectively, but have finished their seasons.

The Auburn - Alabama game may also mean possible All-America recognition for Jimmy Phillips, the Plainsmen's standout end.

Another lineman who has impressed the All-America selectors is guard Bill Krisher who takes the field for Oklahoma today against Oklahoma State. The Sooners, defending national champs two years running, dropped out of the mythical title picture after their defeat by Notre Dame, but bounced back to beat Nebraska last week and will meet Duke in the Orange Bowl at Miami on New Year's day.

The Gator Bowl is eying the Southwest runner-up and also is interested in Vanderbilt and Tennessee, who play each other today, and Georgia Tech which goes against Georgia.

Arizona State of Tempe risks its unbeaten, untied record against Arizona. Arizona State and Auburn have the only unblemished records among major teams.

Navy rates a 6-point choice over Army. Rice 8½ over Baylor, Mississippi 3 over Mississippi State, Auburn 14 over Alabama, Oklahoma 19 over Okla. State, and Ariz. State 26 over Arizona. Georgia Tech and Tennessee are favored by touchdowns.

Other major games today: East — Boston College - Holy Cross; South—Tulane-LSU, Florida-Miami (Fla.); North Carolina-Virginia, Clemson-Furman, South Carolina-Wake Forest; Midwest—Southern Cal-Notre Dame, Wichita-Tulsa; Southwest and Far West—SMU-TCU; Air Force-Colo. State U., and New Mexico-Brigham Young.

Solons Release
Pitcher Black;
4 Under Limit

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—The Washington Senators today conditionally released pitcher Joe Black, cutting their roster to 36 players.

Black, 34, starred for the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1952, then faded. Washington signed him as a free agent last summer, and he had an 0-1 record in seven games with a 7.94 earned run average.

A Senators' spokesman said Black planned to teach school in Plainfield, N.J.

The release put the Senators four men below the 40-player limit in advance of the major league meetings in Colorado Springs next week.

Auburn, Mississippi Play Vital Grudge Games Today

By MERCER BAILEY
The Associated Press
Auburn and Mississippi, the one-two teams in the Southeastern Conference, barrel into their season-ending football game today, pulling for each other — to lose.

Only if one of the two loses, or is tied, will the SEC have an undisputed champion. If both the Tigers and the Rebels win, they'll share the title.

TOLAR TOPS

3 Demon Stars Nab Gulf Titles

By TRUMAN STACEY
LAKE CHARLES, La. (Special) — Northwestern State College's Demons won only one-third of the Gulf States Conference football championship, but the Demons have plenty to crow about when individual stars are discussed.

Three Northwestern acres accounted for all except one of the GSC's individual statistical crowns during the conference season ending last Saturday.

Charley Tolar, the Demons' bullet-like fullback, accounted for a large part of the honors. Tolar was the conference's leading ball carrier, punishing enemy lines for 517 yards in five conference games, averaging 8.33 yards per carry.

Tolar's 517 yards represented the highest offensive total of the season, and gave the Demons' strong boy the GSC's total offense crown as well, on an average of 103.4 yards gained per game in five conference titles.

Dale Hoffpauir, Northwestern quarterback, was the conference's leading passer, on 27 completions in 44 attempts. His passes were good for 377 yards. In addition, Hoffpauir picked up 44 yards rushing, which made his total output for the conference season 421 yards — enough to give him second place in total offense.

Charley Hennigan, Northwestern halfback, completed the sweep by capturing the pass reception title. Hennigan caught 11 aeriels for 208 yards. In second place was another Northwesterner — end Billy Booth — who caught seven passes for 137 yards.

Ralph Davis, SLI halfback, broke the Northwestern monopoly by capturing the punting title. Davis punted 21 times for an average of 38.7 yards per boot.

Tolar's average of 8.33 per carry was one of the highest ever compiled in the GSC, as was his per-game offensive average of 103.4.

Only other player to average more than five yards per carry in ball carrying was Frankie Bourgeois, Southeastern halfback who picked up 357 yards in 31 tries for an average of 6.6 yards per carry.

Rogers Hampton, McNeese veteran, was third with a 4.96 average, although he was hampered in the last two games by injuries.

Here are the top 10 finishers in each category, in conference competition only:

MEET CARDS

Defensive Line Key To Browns' Hopes

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 30 (UP)—That hard-bumping defensive line of the Cleveland Browns is again charged with the task of keeping Cleveland's narrow eastern division alive Sunday afternoon when the Chicago Cardinals invade Municipal Stadium here.

The effectiveness of Cleveland's

offensive punch remains uncertain because of the mystery surrounding who'll handle Cleveland's quarter-backing chores.

Tommy O'Connell, the regular signa' caller, is still recuperating from a back strain suffered last weekend during the Browns' 45-31 victory over the Los Angeles Rams.

"I think Tommy will be able to play," coach Paul Brown speculated. But, if he's unable to take the starting assignment, rookie quarterback Milt Plum from Penn State will be called in to lead the charge.

Brown also is perplexed about what Chicago quarterback O'Connell or Plum will do.

Coach Ray Richards of the Cards has been using both Lamar McHan and Ted Marchibroda — and either of the two are probable starters.

Sunday's contest can make the big difference for Cleveland's title hopes. If the Browns win this one, the victory would be automatic "insurance" for at least an even break against the sell-out engagement with the defending champion Giants at New York on Dec. 15.

The same combination of defensive might—which the Browns will need to stop Cardinal halfback Ollie Matson—and Lou Groza again constitute Cleveland's chief weapons.

The Spaniard was considered a harder puncher but not as good a boxer as Dai Dower, the little Welshman. Dower, the last man to try for Perez' title, was knocked out in the first round here March 30.

Perez won the title from Japan's Yoshio Shirai three years ago. In other title defenses since then, he knocked out Shirai, outpointed Leo Espinosa of the Philippines, and stopped Oscar Suarez in 11 rounds.

The title fight was scheduled to start at 11:30 p.m. (9:30 p.m. CST).

Southerners In

Tangerine Bowl

COMMERCIAL, Tex., Nov. 29 (UP)—East Texas State today accepted an invitation to play in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., Jan. 1 East Texas will play Mississippi Southern.

Dr. W. J. Bell, publicity director of East Texas State, made the announcement.

It will be East Texas' third appearance in the game. In 1953 the Lions beat Tennessee Tech 33-0 and in 1954 they tied Arkansas Tech 7-7.

First Refusal Captures Fair Grounds Chase

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 29 (UP)—First Refusal, an 8-year-old gelding owned by T. A. Grissom of Detroit, won the $2,200 featured race at the Fair Grounds, the second day of the season in New Orleans.

Jockey Johnny Sellers drove First Refusal over the six-furlongs event, The Capitol, in 1:12. He came in three lengths ahead of Rip Road. Third was Battle Camp.

The winner was trained by V. R. (Tennessee) Wright. Anointeth, owned by Grissom and ridden by Sellers, won the fourth race of the eight races today.

First Refusal paid $6.20, $3 and $2.60; Rip Road paid $3.60 and $2.80; Battle Camp paid $4.

Betting totaled $391,103 by 8,901 attending.

Tars, Cadets Hint At New Tricks Today

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29 (UP)—Coach Eddie Blaik of Navy and Earl (Red) Blaik of Army each hinted at new offensive surprises today for Saturday's 58th annual inter-service classic that is expected to attract more than 102,000 fans to Municipal Stadium.

Navy, favored by six points to win, practiced behind locked gates all week-long. All Erdelatz would say publicly was that "we're putting in something new."

Before leaving West Point, Blaik told observers, "we expect to use a new formation, something we haven't tried before." There was speculation that this might be a variation of the "bazooka formation" employed effectively against Notre Dame. This is an unbalanced line with ends split wide.

Fair weather with increasing cloudiness and temperature in the 50's was predicted for the 58th inter-service football classic which shaped up as a battle between Navy's air attack and Army's powerful ground game.

The game will be televised nationally by NBC, starting at 12:15 p.m. CST.

Auburn over Alabama: Too much Tiger defense.

Georgia Tech over Georgia: The Bulldogs would be a good upset choice, but Tech has the home field advantage.

Tennessee over Vanderbilt: After two losses on the road, the Vols are back home and eager for a bowl trip.

Louisiana State over Tulane: Jimmy Taylor, Billy Cannon and J. W. Brodnax have too much speed and power for the thin Green line.

Florida over Miami: The Gators' hard-hitting line and talented backs will have their hands full, but more versatility should bring them through.

Both teams are in fine physical fettle.

Coach J. B. Whitworth, whose three-year tenure as 'Bama coach ends with this game, said "our boys know what they're going against and I think we'll go after them."

At Auburn, coach Ralph Jordan said the No. 1 ranking of his team "was a shot in the arm and I don't think it added any more pressure."

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 29 (UP)—World flyweight champion Pascual Perez of Argentina is a heavy favorite to beat Young Martin, the European 112-pound champion from Spain, in a 15-round title bout tomorrow night.

It will be the fifth title defense for the tiny, 31-year-old Argentine who never has lost a professional fight. He won the Olympic title in 1948.

A crowd of 80,000 was expected to pay from 30 pesos (75 cents) to 400 pesos ($10) to cheer their boxing idol in the huge soccer stadium. Young Martin, 26, wasn't rated much of a chance by observers who have watched him work out here.

The Spaniard was considered a harder puncher but not as good a boxer as Dai Dower, the little Welshman. Dower, the last man to try for Perez' title, was knocked out in the first round here March 30.

Mississippi Southern's record is 8-2. It lost to Houston and Alabama.

Eddie Schmidt Tops 11-Horse Display Field

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (UP)—Eddie Schmidt, the California horse who won the Gallant Fox Handicap a month ago, will attempt to travel a bit farther tomorrow and make off with the $50,000-added Display Handicap at Jamaica.

The Display, a tough two and 1-16 mile race, closes out the 21-day New York racing season, longest in history. The former dates of April 1-Nov. 15 were extended two weeks by the Legislature this year.

Eleven were entered for the Display, and Eddie Schmidt must carry top weight of 121 pounds. When the 4-year-old colt, owned by Col. Leroy G. Burns of Los Angeles won the mile and five-eighths Gallant Fox, he packed only 113 pounds. He again will be ridden by Ismael Valenzuela.

Next in the weights is Mrs. Wallace Gilroy's Oh Johnny, with 120 pounds, while the King Ranch's Beam Rider and Nelson B. Hunt's french-bred Master Boing both have 115. Beam Rider, who finished second in the Gallant Fox with 109, gets the assistance of Eddie Arcaro this time, and runs with a stablemate, Dotted Line, 108.

Bobby Ussery will ride Oh Johnny, who was beaten a neck last week by Promised Land in the Idlewild Handicap after winning the Narragansett Special. Pete Anderson will handle Master Boing, winner of the 1956 Washington D.C. International at Laurel, Md.

Others entered in the marathon gallop, which is difficult to figure because the horses have never traveled such a route, were E. Austin Byrne's Cvet, 107; the Cain Hoy stable's Raising Cain, 104; the Bohemia stable's Ambrose, 110; Landy Lawrence's Promethean, 105; P. A. Tamburo's Ros-Nuala, 105; and Jacques Wimpfheimer's Jocko's Walk, 110.

The presence of Arcaro, who won the 1956 Display aboard Mid-afternoon, may cause the fans to establish Beam Rider the lukewarm favorite for the King Ranch colt was closing fast on Eddie Schmidt in the Gallant Fox.

With 11 starting, the Display would be worth $58,600, the winner netting $40,500.

Both teams are in fine physical fettle.

Coach J. B. Whitworth, whose three-year tenure as 'Bama coach ends with this game, said "our boys know what they're going against and I think we'll go after them."

Indians Open Cage Season With East Texas Baptist

Marshall, Texas when the Indians meet East Texas Baptist College, the team Northeast Coach Lenny Fant coached last season.

The Northeast traveling squad will leave at 8:30 this morning for Marshall and the tilt with E. T. B. C., a winner of 19 and loser of five last season. Monday night the Indians will play William Carey College of Hattiesburg in the Ouachita Parish High gymnasium starting at 8 o'clock.

Fant listed his starting lineup as Bob Patterson and John Freeman at the guard posts, Bill Phillips and Billy May at center. The other members of the traveling squad are Jerry Ivy, Larry Stegall, Ly e Dorsey, Vernon Freeman, Cary Brashler, and Huey Cottrell.

Losers to Delta State, 65-60, in an exhibition tilt last Friday night at Bastrop, the Indians will have the edge in height on East Texas Baptist whose tallest man is only 6-4. May and Phillips are Northeast's biggest men, both standing 6-6. Groves is 6-2, Freeman 5-11, and Patterson 5-9.

"Their lack of height didn't bother them too much last year," Fant recalls of the Texas team. "Their tallest man then was only 6-3."

Fant expects E. T. B. C. to be tough despite losing four starters from last year's fine club. They defeated Corpus Christi University 68-50, in their only previous game this season.

Tonight's game will be first of the 21-game schedule for the Indians. After the Monday night contest with William Carey, the Redskins will return the game at Hattiesburg on Dec. 7 and play Mississippi Southern in the same city two days later. Fant's charges open Gulf States Conference play on Jan. 11 with a game with Southeastern at Hammond.

Advance sale of season tickets is currently in progress. The pastebards are on sale at Frenchie's, Buddy Blair's and R. and A. Jewell in Monroe, and at Colbert's Hardware in West Monroe. The price is $7 for the ten home games.

Baseball Again Warned Of Ills

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—C. Leo DeOrsey predicted today that baseball is headed toward anti-trust regulation and said the sport is "gravely in need of leadership."

De Orsey, outspoken director of the Washington Senators, attacked Commissioner Ford Frick in a personally issued statement with which he declared the game "has a lot at stake" in the major-league meetings at Colorado Springs next week.

Forecasting Congress will apply the antitrust laws to baseball, he said, "The extent it does this will be measured in some degree by what baseball really does."

Auburn, Mississippi Play Vital Grudge Games Today

By MERCER BAILEY
The Associated Press
Auburn and Mississippi, the one-two teams in the Southeastern Conference, barrel into their season-ending football game today, pulling for each other — to lose.

Only if one of the two loses, or is tied, will the SEC have an undisputed champion. If both the Tigers and the Rebels win, they'll share the title.

Auburn, the nation's No. 1 team in the AP poll and the top defensive team in the country, plays Alabama in neutral Birmingham. Ole Miss shooting for a Sugar Bowl trip as well as a share of

3 Demon Stars Nab Gulf Titles

By TRUMAN STACEY
LAKE CHARLES, La. (Special) — Northwestern State College's Demons won only one — third of the Gulf States Conference football championship, but the Demons have plenty to crow about when individual stars are discussed.

Three Northwestern acres accounted for all except one of the GSC's individual statistical crowns during the conference season ending last Saturday.

Charley Tolar, the Demons' bullet-like fullback, accounted for a large part of the honors. Tolar was the conference's leading ball carrier, punishing enemy lines for 517 yards in five conference games, averaging 8.33 yards per carry.

Tolar's 517 yards represented the highest offensive total of the season, and gave the Demons' strong boy the GSC's total offense crown as well, on an average of 103.4 yards gained per game in five conference titles.

Dale Hoffpauir, Northwestern quarterback, was the conference's leading passer, on 27 completions in 44 attempts. His passes were good for 377 yards. In addition, Hoffpauir picked up 44 yards rushing, which made his total out-

MEET CARDS

Defensive Line Key To Browns' Hopes

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 30 (UP)—That hard-bumping defensive line of the Cleveland Browns is again charged with the task of keeping Cleveland's narrow eastern division lead alive Sunday afternoon when the Chicago Cardinals invade Municipal Stadium here.

The effectiveness of Cleveland's

Busch, Devine Will Leave For Baseball Meets

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 29 (UP)—President August A. Busch and general manager Bing Devine of the St. Louis Cardinals will leave tomorrow for the major and minor league meetings at Colorado Springs, Colo., which start next week.

Both Devine and Busch said they favor the abolition of the bonus rule and the establishment of a rule allowing unrestricted draft of four-year players. They said they would oppose an amendment proposing a draft of players with only one year of minor league experience.

A total of 18 representatives of the Cardinal organization will be on hand for the meetings.

offensive punch remains uncertain because of the mystery surrounding who'll handle Cleveland's quarter-backing chores.

Tommy O'Connell, the regular signal caller, is still recuperating from a back strain suffered last weekend during the Browns' 45-31 victory over the Los Angeles Rams.

"I think Tommy will be able to play," coach Paul Brown speculated. But, if he's unable to take the starting assignment, rookie quarterback Milt Plum from Penn State will be called in to lead the charge.

Brown also is perplexed about what Chicago quarterback O'Connell or Plum will do.

Coach Ray Richards of the Cards has been using both Lamar McHan and Ted Marchibroda — and either of the two are probable starters.

Sunday's contest can make the big difference for Browns win this one, the victory would be automatic "insurance" for at least an even break against the sell-out engagement with the defending champion Giants at New York on Dec. 15.

The same combination of defensive might—which the Browns will need to stop Cardinal half-back Ollie Matson—and Lou Groza again constitutes Cleveland's chief weapons.

the crown, meets Mississippi State at Starkville, State's home grounds.

Kentucky concluded its season a week ago with a tremendous upset over arch-rival Tennessee, but all other SEC members end regular season play today against traditional cross-state foes. Georgia is at Georgia Tech, Florida at Miami for a night game, Vanderbilt at Tennessee and Tulane at Louisiana State.

Since Auburn and Florida are on NCAA probation, the only major bowl prospects in the league are Ole Miss, Mississippi State, Tennessee and, perhaps, Vanderbilt and Georgia Tech. Ole Miss is a "can't miss" bowl candidate. Even a loss to underdog State would leave the Rebels with a 8-2 chart, better than any other team in the league except Auburn.

Chances of the other SEC hopefuls depend on two factors: (1) victory in their final games and (2) availability of non-SEC teams — such as Navy — for a bowl.

Alabama, a two-touchdown underdog, stands between Auburn and its first perfect season of modern times. In 1913 Auburn compiled an 8-0-0 chart and in 1932 the Tigers whipped their first nine foes, but were tied 20-20 in the season finale by South Carolina.

The Crimson Tide has been getting tougher in the past month but what if it is tough enough to dent that terrific Auburn defense, led by all-America end candidate Jimmy Phillips, is the question.

The Ole Miss-Mississippi State clash pits two of the league's finest quarterbacks in the Rebels' Ray Brown and State's Billy Stacy. State, a touchdown underdog in this key game, is the only SEC team which has managed to score on Auburn this year and Ole Miss boasts the league's best offensive record.

First Refusal Captures Fair Grounds Chase

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 29 (AP) — First Refusal, an 8-year-old gelding owned by T. A. Grissom of Detroit, won the $2,200 featured race at the Fair Grounds, the second day of the season in New Orleans.

Jockey Johnny Sellers drove First Refusal over the six-furlong event. The Capitol, in 1:12. He came in three lengths ahead of Rip Road. Third was Battle Camp.

The winner was trained by V. R. (Tennessee) Wright. Anointeth, owned by Grissom and ridden by Sellers, won the fourth race of the eight races today.

First Refusal paid $6.20, $3 and $2.60; Rip Road paid $3.60 and $2.80; Battle Camp paid $4.

Betting totaled $391,103 by 8,901 attending.

Tars, Cadets Hint At New Tricks Today

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29 (UP) — Coach Eddie Erdelatz of Navy and Earl (Red) Blaik of Army each hinted at new offensive surprises today for Saturday's 58th annual inter-service classic that is expected to attract more than 102,000 fans to Municipal Stadium.

Navy, favored by six points to win, practiced behind locked gates all week-long. All Erdelatz would say publicly was that "we're putting in something new."

Before leaving West Point, Blaik told observers, "We expect to use a new formation, something we haven't tried before." There was speculation that this might be a variation of the "bazooka formation" employed effectively against Notre Dame. This is an unbalanced line with ends split wide.

Fair weather with increasing cloudiness and temperature in the 50's was predicted for the 58th inter-service football classic which shaped up as a battle between Navy's air attack and Army's powerful ground game.

The game will be televised nationally by NBC, starting at 12:15 p.m. CST.

NATIONAL TITLE AT STAKE

Muddy Field For Alabama, Auburn

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 29 (AP) — A muddy field and chill, windy weather may be factors in tomorrow's Auburn-Alabama football game, a contest which may decide both the Southeastern Conference and national football championships.

Auburn, ranked No. 1 in the nation, can clinch at least a tie for the SEC title by winning. The national ranking would be in serious jeopardy unless the Tigers look good.

Both teams are in fine physical fettle.

Coach J. B. Whitworth, whose three-year tenure as "Bama coach" ends with this game, said "our boys know what they're going against and I think we'll go after them."

At Auburn, coach Ralph Jordan said the No. 1 ranking of his team "was a shot in the arm and I don't think it added any more pressure."

A victory tomorrow would be

Tiger-Cats, Bombers Vie For Grey Cup

TORONTO, Nov. 29 (AP) — Two powerful, capable teams went through their final workouts today for the football classic that annually sends all Canada into something of a mad dither.

The Winnipeg Blue Bombers, champions of the Western League and Hamilton's Tiger-Cats, Big Four titleholders, will settle it all tomorrow — the new ownership of the prized Grey Cup — and end all the forecasts, convictions and guesses by hordes of experts and semi-experts.

The teams meet on Varsity Stadium field at 12 noon CST. They finished their preparations quietly — far from the whoop-de-doo that is part and parcel of the Grey Cup game. Even the words Grey Cup seem to have become a state of mind.

The Bombers went through a light drill — their second since arriving by plane from Winnipeg yesterday — on a big field adjacent to the Guild Inn, 15 miles east of downtown Toronto.

The Titans drilled on their home field, then were given a mighty send-off by Hamilton fans who will pour into Toronto tomorrow to add noise to all the excitement.

Both teams were confident. So were their coaches, Bud Grant of the Bombers and Jim Trimble of the Tiger-Cats.

The weather man and the experts still weren't sure where they stood in their respective vocations. The weather man, getting into the spirit of the betting fraternity, said there's a better than 50-50 chance rain or wet snow will serve a stormy accompaniment to the expected stormy game.

Eddie Schmidt Tops 11-Horse Display Field

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—Eddie Schmidt, the California horse who won the Gallant Fox Handicap a month ago, will attempt to travel a bit farther tomorrow and make off with the $50,000-added Display Handicap at Jamaica.

The Display, a tough two and 1-16 mile race, closes out the 21-day New York racing season, longest in history. The former dates of April 1-Nov. 15 were extended two weeks by the Legislature this year.

Eleven were entered for the Display, and Eddie Schmidt must carry top weight of 121 pounds. When the 4-year-old colt owned by Col. Leroy G. Burns of Los Angeles won the mile and five-eighths Gallant Fox, he packed only 113 pounds. He again will be ridden by Ismael Valenzuela.

Next in the weights is Mrs. Wallace Gilroy's Oh Johnny, with 120 pounds, while the King Ranch Beam Rider and Nelson B. Hunt's french-bred Master Boing both weigh 115. Beam Rider, who finished second in the Gallant Fox with 109, gets the assistance of Eddie Arcaro this time, and runs with a stablemate, Dotted Line, 108.

Bobby Ussery will ride Oh Johnny, who was beaten a neck last week by Promised Land in the Idlewild Handicap after winning the Narragansett Special. Pete Anderson will handle Master Boing, winner of the 1956 Washington D.C. International at Laurel, Md.

Others entered in the marathon gallop, which is difficult to figure because the horses have never traveled such a route, were E. Austin Byrne's Civet, 107; the Cain Hoy stable's Raising Cain, 104; the Bohemia stable's Amehaving, 110; Laudy Lawrence's Promethean, 105; P. A. Tamburo's Ros-Nuala, 105; and Jacques Wimpmeimer's Jock's Walk, 110.

The presence of Arcaro, who won the 1956 Display aboard Mid-afternoon, may ease the fans' uneasiness to establish Beam Rider the favorite for the King Ranch colt was closing fast on Eddie Schmidt in the Gallant Fox.

With 11 starting, the Display would be worth $38,600, the winner netting $40,500.

Wagner Appoints Group To Search For Ball Team

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (UP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner today appointed a four-man committee which will try to obtain a National League baseball team for New York to replace the Dodgers and Giants.

Names to the committee were James A. Farley, former U. S. Postmaster General; Bernard F. Gimbel, leading department store magnate; Clinton W. Blume, a realtor and director of the New York City Convention Bureau, and William A. Shea, a lawyer.

In announcing the committee, Mayor Wagner gave no indication of how it was to undertake the task of replacing the city's departed National League teams.

Georgia Tech Favored Over Georgia Team

ATLANTA, Nov. 29 (AP)—Georgia Tech, ailing all season with a persistent case of "sophomoritis," remained the oddsmakers' favorite today for its 52nd football meeting with arch rival Georgia.

The betting fraternity preferred Tech by 6½ points on the eve of the big intrastate battle, which will attract a 40,000 to crowd of upwards of 49,000 to Grant Field.

Both coaches have called the game a tossup with the outcome hanging on the breaks. Georgia adherents believe Wally Butts' Bulldogs have their best chance of downing the Yellow Jackets since 1950, when Tech upset Georgia 7-0 in Athens.

Not since 1948, when one of Butts' finest squads topped Tech 21-13, have the Bulldogs staged victory in the series that began in 1893. Tech has won 24 games, Georgia 22 and 5 were ties.

Georgia won only two victories in nine games this year, but the Bulldogs were formidable in their last outing—a 6-0 loss to highly favored Auburn — and Tech has been slipping since upsetting Duke 13-0 a month ago. The Jackets have 4 victories, 3 losses and 2 scoreless ties for their poorest record since 1950.

AT MARSHALL

Indians Open Cage Season With East Texas Baptist

Northeast State opens its 1957-58 basketball schedule tonight at Marshall, Texas when the Indians meet East Texas Baptist College, the team Northeast Coach Lenny Fant coached last season.

The Northeast traveling squad will leave at 8:30 this morning for Marshall and the tilt with E. T.

B. C., a winner of 19 and loser of five last season, Monday night the Indians will play William Carey College of Hattisburg in the Ouachita Parish High gymnasium starting at 8 o'clock.

Fant listed his starting lineup as Bob Patterson and John Freeman at the guard posts, Bill Phillips and Bob Groves at the forwards and Billy May at center. The other members of the traveling squad are Jerry Ivy, Larry Stegall, Ly e Dorsey, Vernon Freeman, Cary Brashier, and Huey Cottrell.

Losers to Delta State, 65-60, in an exhibition tilt last Friday night at Bastrop, the Indians will have the edge in height on East Texas Baptist whose tallest man is only 6-4. May and Phillips are Northeast's biggest men, both standing 6-6. Groves is 6-2, Freeman 5-11, and Patterson 5-9.

"Their lack of height didn't bother them too much last year," Fant recalls of the Texas team. "Their tallest man then was only 6-3."

Fant expects E. T. B. C. to be tough despite losing four starters from last year's fine club. They defeated Corpus Christi University 68-50, in their only previous game this season.

Tonight's game will be first of the 21-game schedule for the Indians. After the Monday night contest with William Carey, the Redskins will return the game at Hattisburg on Dec. 7 and play Mississippi Southern in the same city two days later. Fant's charges open Gulf States Conference play on Jan. 11 with a game with Southeastern at Hammond.

Advance sale of season tickets is currently in progress. The pasteboards are on sale at Frenchie's, Buddy Blair's and R. and A. Jewelry in Monroe, and at Colbert's Hardware in West Monroe. The price is $7 for the ten home games.

Rice Favored To Top Bears, Go To Cotton

HOUSTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Rice's Owls hope to climax a late-season comeback tomorrow and claim the Southwest Conference championship and a Cotton Bowl bid by overcoming Baylor's spread formation and hefty line.

The Owls are favored by 8½ points.

Baylor has not won a conference game but holds a 7-7 tie with Texas, the only team that could knock the Owls out of the championship and a post-season trip to Dallas.

A tie with Baylor would leave Rice and Texas in a title deadlock with 4-1 conference records. The Longhorns would go to the Cotton Bowl because of a 19-14 victory over the Owls. A Baylor upset over Rice would give everything to Texas.

An upset by Baylor, a pre-season favorite, also would aid materially in erasing a disappointing season.

Except for a mid-season 20-7 loss to Clemson, the only blemishes on Rice's 6-3 record were produced by a pair of long touchdown runs that caused narrow defeats from Duke and Texas. Since the Clemson loss, however, Rice has shown sharp improvement on defense, giving up only two touchdowns while getting back in the conference race by defeating Arkansas, Texas A&M and Texas Christian.

Rice received a jolt yesterday when its star right end, Gene Jones, sprained an ankle during a light workout. Jones may see no more than limited action against the Bears.

Other factors which might sway the betting populace in favor of Promised Land are the three-pound weight pull he'll get from Swoon's Son under the weight-forage conditions, trainer Hirsch Jacobs' background of being the nation's leading conditioner 11 times, and jockey Willie Hartacks record — breaking total of $3,022,039 in purses won by his mounts already this year.

Dave Erb will be piloting Swoon's Son in his first eastern appearance. Ted Atkinson will be aboard Third Brother and Willie Boland will be up on Tick Tock. Promised Land will carry 123 pounds, the others 126.

No show betting will be allowed on the race, which will not be broadcast or telecast.

Abram Morehouse DAR Hears Dr. G. Green

The guest speaker for the November meeting of the Abram Morehouse chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution was Dr. Glen L. Green of the Oak Ridge Baptist Church. The meeting was in the J. B. Shackelford home at Jones.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. John Shackelford, Mrs. W. L. Pugh, Mrs. Duke Shackelford, Mrs. Will S. Gray, Mrs. J. B. Shackelford and Miss Lucie Pugh Nunn.

Mrs. Gray, the program chairman, introduced the guest speaker who spoke on "Our Religious Heritage." A very enlightening history was given by Dr. Greene and, in a most interesting manner, he traced the movement of the original colonies — bringing out the manner in which their religious contributions were related to the present day Christian conduct. He outlined the principles involved during the American Revolution by the separate denominations and of how the diversity of religion in the middle colonies set the pace in the freedom of religion.

Dr. Greene told his listeners of the influence religion has had on the culture of America. He brought out that one of the most outstanding influences was Puritanism and its reflection on culture, industry, thrift and morality.

In closing Dr. Green said that our religious heritage has brought international responsibility as well as national honor to our children, and the generations to come, and that we should use the heritage wisely so that the peoples of the

OUR PROBLEMS

Foolish Little Fights Turn Into Real Trouble

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: My husband and I have been married three years. We get along well, in fact much better than most of our married friends. But I have what is developing into a real problem. I hope you can help me.

Three weeks ago we got into an argument about whether or not he should shave. I know it sounds silly. His beard is rather heavy and sometimes when we have a social engagement in the evening he'll shave a second time.

Well, this particular night he got stubborn and refused. I was annoyed and made no secret of it. We had a real tiff.

He hasn't kissed me since and it's been 21 days. I never dreamed he could stay away from me so long. It's breaking my heart.

What shall I do? — Norma

This street runs both ways. While you may figure he's "staying away from you," he probably figures you've been "staying away" from him.

These foolish little fights can hatch into real trouble if you let them. My advice is to forget who said what to whom and make the first move. Greet him with a nice big kiss when he comes home from work tonight and put an end to the cold war at once.

Dear Ann: For the past four years my husband has been getting a Christmas card from an old girl friend who used to be crazy about him. This woman has been divorced twice in the last three years and everyone who knows her says she's plain loony.

When the card came last Christmas I threw it away because she had written some little note on it for me. Since you were the one who thought was too personal, I thought I should address it only to HIM although she knows good and well that he's a married man.

Christmas will be here before long and I'm sure there will be a Dresden doll with an empty

another card from this woman. Do you think I have the right to protect my home from this nut by ditching the card again this year? I say why invite trouble. Please agree. — Uneasy Zee

Sorry, you get no nod of approval from here. The woman may be sappy as a maple tree in April but this doesn't give you the right to act as a censor of your husband's mail.

Chances are excellent that your husband would have shared the card and laughed off the whole thing. If one day this woman should mention the cards to him, he may wonder what else you've been hiding. Play it straight or you may create more trouble for yourself than the dingbat ever could.

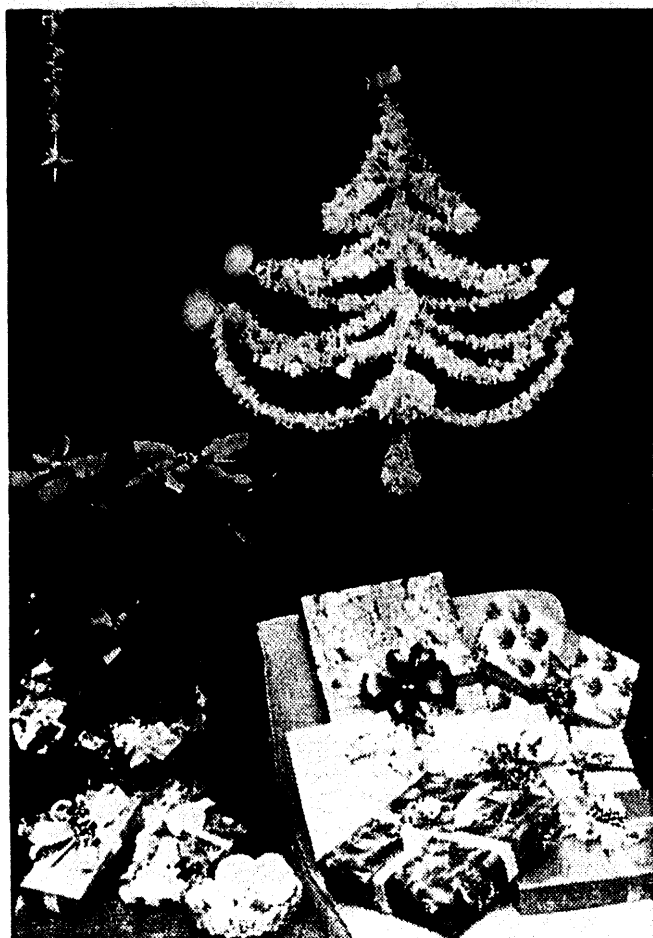

Dear Ann: I went with a girl for three years and we were all most engaged. My sisters gave me the idea that she wasn't attractive enough for me so I decided to call off the romance and look around.

This was four months ago and I realize I acted like a jerk. The dolls I've been dating are dull and mostly interested in what they can get out of a guy in the way of gifts and entertainment. Now I know this old flame of mine is tops, but I hate to be the one to

It's no secret that I hurt her feelings when I called it quits but my friends tell me she'd take me about him. This woman has been low my pride and give her a call years and everyone who knows or let nature take its course? — XX

What do you mean "swallow your pride"? You ought to get on your knees and beg her to forgive you. Since you were the one who called it quits any attempt at a reconciliation should rightfully come from you.

His hope for your sake that you haven't been replaced with a more bright guy who knows that a Dresden doll with an empty

YOUR BABY AND MINE

There Is No Dissension In This Neighborhood

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDERD

It is disheartening to discover how much irritability there is between neighbors, usually about their children. Is it the general atmosphere of unrest, of anxiety and fear of the future which make it so difficult for people to get along with each other? There is letter after letter filled with incidents of dissension. Here, happily is one that mirrors a fine neighborhood.

A "Grateful Neighbor" writes, "I have four children of ages from 10 months to eight years. The next door neighbor has three from 10 to 16. Across the street there are six from seven to 14. Down the street there are two — seven and nine. And one family has a boy of six.

Not One Scrap

"We have not had one scrap on this block for as long as I can remember. Every mother makes it a rule that when her children play away from home they must mind the mother in whose home they are playing.

The whole group plays together wonderfully, different as they are in ages. The mothers are not really chummy — if you know what I mean, but when one has to be gone after the children come from school, the children know enough to go to some neighbor. This is one neighborhood in a thousand and I wanted someone to know how nice it is and how appreciated."

Different Situation

Obviously no one is taking advantage of anyone and each is doing her part for the good of the whole neighborhood. This is as it should be. Now here is a different situation.

A Mother writes, "On two occasions my boy has been so badly hurt by a neighbor's child that we had to have the doctor. I did not say anything to the neighbor and I told the child that we should not blame anyone when a hurt was accidental.

But, when my boy accidentally hit hers, she came over and bawled me out as if I were a child. I was speechless and have not spoken to her since. Now she says I am the touchy one and yells loudly to her children to leave mine strictly alone."

This is such childish behavior that it should be amusing to you. But I wouldn't stop speaking. Neal W. Mott, Mr. and Mrs. North, though it is your privilege to assume McBuffie, Mr. and Mrs. John Barr and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Shepard.

I would remain friendly to the children as a means of showing them that you are a mature person. These small things may make a lifetime impression upon a child and, meanwhile, you will feel better about it, too.

"Our brand new booklet 'Neighborhood Problems' may be had for 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

WHY GROW OLD?

Maybe Exercise Club Is The Answer For You

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Sports are fun because we have companionship and also because the element of competition enters in. That's why a figure molding class is so much more fun than doing exercises alone. You have company in your "misery" and also compete to see who can lose inches most effectively.

In many cities there are exercise clubs, stimulated by "Why Grow Old?" In these groups, neighborhood women get together and exercise five mornings a week after the children are off to school.

In some instances the women meet only once a week to compare notes and have a social get-together. On other days they exercise alone in their own homes. This weekly meeting is a great help. It puts the pressure on because you hate to go to meet your friends and report no progress when they are dropping inches each week.

There are several exercises it is fun to do together. For instance, one woman lies on the floor on her abdomen with her arms resting on the floor in front of her. The second woman holds the feet of the first down as the first raises her trunk, head and arms, up as high as she can. She slowly returns her trunk, head and arms to the floor. After a few times the two reverse positions.

The following exercise is a splendid toner and reducer for the abdomen. Two women sit facing

Christmas Decor Contest Set By Chatham Club

The Demochat Home Demonstration Club will sponsor a residential Christmas Decorating Contest in Chatham this year, according to Mrs. Nell Womack, president of the club.

The contest, which begins on December 15, and ends on December 26, is being promoted to spread the spirit of Christmas by means of decorations with light.

The first place winner will be entered in the GE $5,000 National wide Christmas Decorating Contest. Mrs. Womack, in announcing the event, stated that "Our Community will receive a great many benefits from an all-out effort to decorate our homes. It will provide pleasure for both young and old, and will beautify our community at this season of the year." She said, "It isn't how much money you spend on the displays that counts, but the originality and ingenuity with which you use your decorations."

Entry blanks with rules of the contest have been placed at many of the business places in Chatham.

Nearly a third of all of Minnesota's dairy cows are now bred artificially.

OUR PROBLEMS

Foolish Little Fights Turn Into Real Trouble

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: My husband and I have been married three years. We get along well, in fact much better than most of our married friends. But I have what is developing into a real problem. I hope you can help me.

Three weeks ago we got into an argument about whether or not he should shave. I know it sounds silly. His beard is rather heavy and sometimes when we have a social engagement in the evening he'll shave a second time.

Well, this particular night he got stubborn and refused. I was annoyed and made no secret of it. We had a real tiff.

He hasn't kissed me since and it's been 21 days. I never dreamed he could stay away from me so long. It's breaking my heart.

What shall I do? — Norma

This street runs both ways. While you may figure he's "staying away from you," he probably figures you've been "staying away" from him.

These foolish little fights can hatch into real trouble if you let them. My advice is to forget what said what to whom and make the first move. Greet him with a nice big kiss when he comes home from work tonight and put an end to the cold war at once.

Dear Ann: For the past four years my husband has been getting a Christmas card from an old girl friend who used to be crazy about him. This woman has been divorced twice in the last three years and everyone who knows her says she's plain loony.

When the card came last Christmas I threw it away because she had written some little note on it which I thought was too personal. Of course these cards are addressed only to HIM although she knows good and well that he's a married man.

Christmas will be here before long and I'm sure there will be another card from this woman. Do you think I have the right to protect my home from this nut by ditching the card again this year? I say why invite trouble. Please agree. — Uneasy Zee

Sorry, you get no nod of approval from here. The woman may be sappy as a maple tree in April but this doesn't give you the right to act as a censor of your husband's mail.

Chances are excellent that your husband would have shared the card and laughed off the whole thing. If one day this woman should mention the cards to him, he may wonder what else you've been hiding. Play it straight or you may create more trouble for yourself than the dingbat ever could.

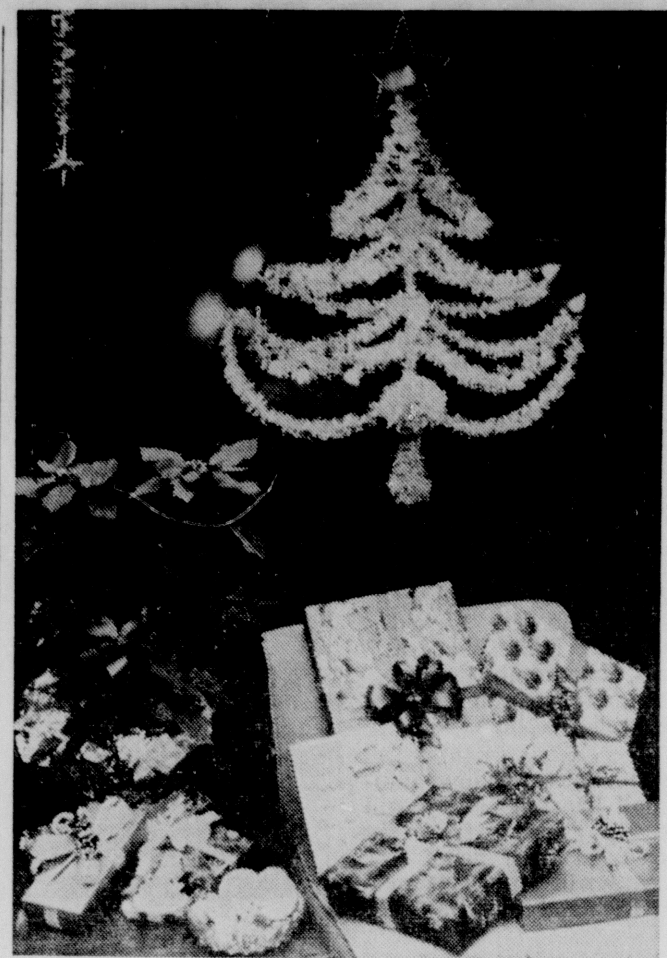

Dear Ann: I went with a girl for three years and we were almost engaged. My sisters gave me the idea that she wasn't attractive enough for me so I decided to call off the romance and look around.

This was four months ago and I realize I acted like a jerk. The dolls I've been dating are dull and mostly interested in what they can get out of a guy in the way of gifts and entertainment. Now I know this old flame of mine is tops, but I hate to be the one to give in.

It's no secret that I hurt her feelings when I called it quits but our friends tell me she'd take me back if I asked her. Shall I swallow my pride and give her a call or let nature take its course?—XX

What do you mean "swallow your pride"? You ought to get on your knees and beg her to forgive you. Since you were the one who called it quits any attempts at a reconciliation should rightfully come from you.

Let's hope for your sake that you haven't been replaced with some bright guy who knows that a Dresden doll with an empty head can be a crashing bore.

IMAGINATION, plus either a Christmas card frame—or one made from coat hangers—equals a gala little tree to hang on a wall or window. In creating the tree, first attach strings of pink tree lights to the wire frame; then conceal frame and electric wires with pink tinsel roping. Star atop the tree was wrapped with shiny gold ribbon.

Confidentially: Particular Miss: Forget about your fingernails and get busy with those dishes. Your sisters are right.

Dead Tired: Wash on Wednesday or Thursday. Your husband should be greeted by a wife, not a dead herring, when he comes in off the road.

Unhappy Kids: Your grandparents are doing the best they can under difficult circumstances. They were raised in a different generation. Ask your favorite teacher to speak with them.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

There Is No Dissension In This Neighborhood

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

It is disheartening to discover how much irritability there is between neighbors, usually about their children. Is it the general atmosphere of unrest, of anxiety and fear of the future which make it so difficult for people to get along with each other? There is letter after letter filled with incidents of dissension. Here, happily is one that mirrors a fine neighborhood.

A "Grateful Neighbor" writes, "I have four children of ages from 10 months to eight years. The next door neighbor has three from 10 to 16. Across the street there are six from seven to 14. Down the street there are two—seven and nine. And one family has a boy of six.

Not One Scrap

"We have not had one scrap on this block for as long as I can remember. Every mother makes it a rule that when her children play away from home they must mind the mother in whose home they are playing.

The whole group plays together wonderfully, different as they are in ages. The mothers are not really chummy—if you know what I mean, but when one has to be gone after the children come from school, the children know enough to go to some neighbor. This is one neighborhood in a thousand and I wanted someone to know how nice it is and how appreciated."

Different Situation

Obviously no one is taking advantage of anyone and each is doing her part for the good of the whole neighborhood. This is as it should be. Now here is a different situation.

A Mother writes, "On two occasions my boy has been so badly hurt by a neighbor's child that we had to have the doctor. I did not say anything to the neighbor and I told the child that we should not blame anyone when a hurt was accidental.

But, when my boy accidentally hit hers, she came over and bawled me out as if I were a child. I was speechless and have not spoken to her since. Now she says I am the tough one and yells loudly to her children to leave mine strictly alone."

Answer

This is such childish behavior that it should be amusing to you. But I wouldn't stop speaking, though it is your privilege to associate with her or not, as you choose. I would remain friendly to the children as a means of showing them that you are a mature person. These small things may make a lifetime impression upon a child and, meanwhile, you will feel better about it, too.

WHY GROW OLD?

Maybe Exercise Club Is The Answer For You

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Sports are fun because we have companionship and also because the element of competition enters in. That's why a figure molding class is so much more fun than doing exercises alone. You have company in your "misery" and also compete to see who can lose inches most effectively.

In many cities there are exercise clubs, stimulated by "Why Grow Old?" In these groups, neighborhood women get together and exercise five mornings a week after the children are off to school.

In some instances the women meet only once a week to compare notes and have a social get together. On other days they exercise alone in their own homes. This weekly meeting is a great help. It puts the pressure on because you hate to go to meet your friends and report no progress when they are dropping inches each week.

There are several exercises it is fun to do together. For instance, one woman lies on the floor on her abdomen with her arms resting on the floor in front of her. The second woman holds the feet of the first down as the first raises her trunk, head and arms, up as high as she can. She slowly returns her trunk, head and arms to the floor. After a few times the two reverse positions.

The following exercise is a splendid toner and reducer for the abdomen. Two women sit facing

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it: AXYDLBAAXR IS LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

BOWMEN BUSY

The bow and arrow hunting season accounted for 132 deer. Bowmen reported taking 78 does and 54 bucks. The youngest bowman to get a deer was Michael Stark, 10. He downed a doe at 25 yards by firing four arrows from his 26-pound bow.

First Anniversary
For Hobby Shop
Mac's Hobby and Model Shop, 803 Louisville, yesterday celebrated its first anniversary.
L. M. McBride, proprietor, said the event was observed by declaring a 10 per cent discount on all merchandise for a period to last until further notice.
Mac's which opened Dec. 1, 1956 handles necessary items for all hobby fields and age groups.
McBride lives with his wife, Jacquelyn, at 700 Avoyelles, and has been a resident of Monroe since 1942, when he was stationed at Selman Field.

Miss. Counts Six Fatalities This Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Six persons died violently as Mississippi moved into the second day of the long Thanksgiving holiday weekend, setting a pace that could exceed the predicted 11 traffic fatalities.

The deaths included by stabbing and five traffic fatalities; two involving pedestrians and the other a small boy sitting on a porch.

Public safety commissioner Tom Scarbrough predicted 11 persons would die on Mississippi roads between 6 p.m. Wednesday and midnight Sunday.

Last year, the total was 12, a record. The lowest death rate for the four days was two, set in 1948.

The fatalities so far were:

Donnie Little, 60, of Mount Olive, who died on a farm-to-market road near his home Thursday night. Covington County Sheriff Dale Shoemaker said Little had been struck by a truck but a coroner's jury ruled death by unknown causes.

Charles Lee Thomas, 20, of Gloucester, died in a two-car collision six miles west of his home on state highway 24 Thursday. Four others were injured.

Clarence H. Harris, 35, of Natchez, was stabbed to death by his 31-year-old wife, Juanita, during an argument Thursday. She told officers her husband cursed and abused her and she stabbed him after he grabbed her by the throat.

Wayne Mulin, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Mulin of Cleveland, was killed when an automobile swerved and hit him as he sat on his grandfather's porch steps in an Indiana Thursday. Officers identified the driver as Audrey Beard, an Indiana teenager.

Elmore Wheeler, 64, of Memphis, Tenn., died Wednesday night in a three-car collision on highway 78 east of New Albany.

Vincent Henry Rogers, 41, of Leeland, died Wednesday night when he was struck by an automobile as he walked across highway 82 four miles east of Greenville.

COTTON LETTER

Courtesy Of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Bean

The market posted modest gains for the day on general buying with all months advancing except the spot month which came under liquidation. There were no issues issued yesterday. It is believed that the results of the CCC sales will be announced today or the early part of next week.

We do not know the size of the sales but believe that the bidding has been heavy with considerable duplications of bids quite likely. It is probable that prices for better quality cottons will be above current market prices. Cotton parity on Nov. 15th was 37.31 up 25 per cent from last month. As of November 22nd, untraded call sales totalled slightly in excess of half a million bales compared to 875,000 a year ago.

Gray Goods market continued steady on basis of 174c for 80 squares. Several mills raised yarn prices from 3 to 4c a pound because of higher raw cotton prices. Exports yesterday totalled 5603 bales bringing the season total to 1,618,851 bales compared to 1,987,199 last year.

COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (UP)—Cotton futures closed 85 cents a bale lower to 60 cents higher today. Only nearby December showed a decline.

Liquidation was more active in that delivery as certificated cotton stocks increased. The market eased at the start but trade buying caused prices to move irregularly higher during the mid-session.

The upturn gained momentum in late dealings, paced by New Orleans demand.

The Department of Agriculture reported the November cotton parity at 37.31 cents a pound for middling 1/2 inch cotton. This was an increase of 25 points over the mid-October figure.

Certificated cotton stocks increased 323 bales to 7,904 bales. Private reports indicated the weather was unfavorable over parts of the central and eastern cotton belt Thanksgiving Day but improved today.

There were no December transferable notes issued at New York.

Futures closed 85 cents a bale lower to 60 cents higher than the previous close.

WOOL LETTER

Courtesy Of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Bean

Modest trade hedge selling after the opening pushed futures down 1 to 1 1/2c and thereafter the market had a tendency to drift although some new trade buying was noted just prior to the close. A modest amount of commission house buying on GSE wool close with light offerings and market was unduly strong.

There were no notices issued in either tops or wool. Monday is first notice day on London wool top futures and it is anticipated by the trade that tendering will be heavy. The spot month in London continues to be under fairly heavy pressure. Volume of under March.

Several trade sources anticipate that Australian auction prices next week will show an easy tone as offerings are to be heavy with over 110,000 bales to be placed on auction. Actual business in London futures to be relatively light and it is understood that topmakers are offering merino 64s at 118 pence but are willing to make substantial discounts below this price.

THE USE OF a "conditioned" dog in Sputnik II gave the Russians a powerful animal robot in space.

Pet Animal Use In Experiments Hit

By DR. I. M. LEVITT

The world-wide criticism from dog lovers against the use of Laika, the animal that rode in Sputnik II, obviously set the Russians back on their heels — and may have prevented them from telling why they chose a dog as the first living passenger in a space satellite.

The real reason is remarkable. All the animals available — from mice to monkeys — a dog can most faithfully perform certain duties to which it has been "conditioned" or trained.

To put it baldly, a dog provides brain power amenable to discipline.

And that brain power, able to direct a dog in such simple tasks as pushing switch buttons, could easily allow Russian scientists to save hundreds of pounds in complex electric instruments within the satellite. Laika may have actually served as an "engineer" within a Sputnik capsule.

As a matter of fact, Russians tend to favor the use of dogs in all sorts of experiments.

The answer to this goes back many years and involves the researches of one of the world's most famous physiologists, Ivan Petrovich Pavlov.

Pavlov, the son of a village priest, studied medicine and just before the turn of the century was appointed director of the physiology Department of the Institute of Experimental Medicine in Leningrad. At this point he became interested in digestion, brain activity and reflexes. He experimented on many animals, including monkeys and rabbits, but found dogs to be his best subjects.

He early learned that dogs could be conditioned to perform certain functions by stimulating them in various ways.

For instance, he discovered he could teach a dog to accept food only when a bell was rung. Every time the bell sounded the dog would go to a station where he would expect food.

In the early stages of training the dog was taught that to refuse to obey a command would result in punishment such as a slight electric shock. While this was not painful the dog didn't like it. Thus he knew there was a penalty to be paid for not performing a task. This put a premium on obedience.

Pavlov found the dog correlated the bell and food to such an extent that if the bell rang and no food was available the dog would still salivate as though he were preparing to eat. In this fashion the dog was conditioned to associate food and the bell and this gave rise to the phrase used by psychologists — conditioned reflexes.

Scientists also studied the action of a dog when a certain sound was heard.

In this experiment the dog was taught to move a leg when he heard the sound of a metronome. This was accomplished by giving the dog a slight electric shock in the leg when the tick occurred. Eventually every time the dog heard this tick he would move his leg purely in self-defense to escape punishment. Again, here was an example of conditioned reflexes.

Obviously, therefore, the use of a conditioned dog in Sputnik II gave the Russians a powerful animal robot in space.

Suppose the dog had been taught to perform certain functions when it heard certain sounds. His masters on earth could make the sounds by radio and the dog would perform prescribed duties.

FAMILY HUNTING

WEST HAVEN, Vt. — (UP) — Three generations of Sheldrick family killed five deer during the first four days of the season. George Sheldrick shot a spikehorn buck. His son, William, brought down an eight-pointer. Then William's 13-year-old son, Howard, accounted for another spikehorn. And William Sheldrick, Jr. brought down a deer. Not to be outdone by the men in her family, Mrs. William Sheldrick bagged a four-point buck.

Or the sounds could be produced by a tiny, simple timing apparatus. Actually, the dog, as an intelligent, thinking animal, might even have been trained to monitor certain mechanisms and press buttons to correct any malfunction in them.

The conclusion is that no amount of instrumentation can replace a thinking brain!
